World At Easter Finds New Strength In Hope For Peace

Policeman Gets Mayor's OK For Play With Kids

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP) — Police-man Harold Berglund, 47, has been worried about what Mayor Martin H. Kennelly must think of him.

The only three times the mayor has observed Berglund on duty the policeman was (1) teaching a youngster to spin a top, (2) teaching three small boys to salute, and (3) riding a youngster's bike he had just repaired.

Berglund's worries were detailed in a Chicago Tribune story.

Today, the policeman learned that Kennelly had read the item, chuckled and commented, "We need more cops like that."

Allied Planes Unhampered By Korean Rains

SEOUL, Monday, April 6 (AP) — Fighting slackened along the rain-swept Korean battle front late Easter Sunday, but Allied planes swept through low clouds and maintained relentless pressure on Red front-line fortifications.

The Fifth Air Force sent Sabre jets winging over Mig Alley in Northwest Korea but pilots reported no encounters with Red fighters.

Allied fighter-bombers hammering along the Red front lines and ranging far to the north knocked out a Red gun position, damaged a locomotive, five boxcars and a bridge near Hamhung on the northeast coast.

South Korean 7th Division troops halted a Central Front attack by 175 Chinese in the early morning hours before Easter sunrise.

The Chinese supported the company-sized attack against Christmas Hill and a nearby outpost with almost 2,000 rounds of mortar and artillery shells.

However, the South Koreans stood firm and poured a withering return fire on the advancing Reds. Some Chinese got within hand grenade range but none penetrated the outpost defenses.

Elsewhere along the front tens of thousands of Eighth Army troops took time out for Easter Sunday services—in bunkers and on hillsides.

Thinks Wife Is Dead, Man Kills Himself

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Alfred Rodriguez, 53, quarreled with his wife today and, in a fury, grasped her about the throat.

She went limp, apparently choked to death.

Then, police said, Rodriguez plunged to his death from a fifth-floor window.

Police said he did it because he thought he had killed his wife. But she regained consciousness soon after the quarrel, having suffered only a few bruises.

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—Snow and rain marred the Easter holiday in Britain today, but transport officials said there was practically no body at home anyway—50,000 persons had crossed the channel to spend the day in France.

Six Convicts Get Away From "Escape-Proof" Miami Jail

MIAMI, April 5 (INS) — Six convicts, including two murderers who fled last night from Miami's so-called escape-proof skyscraper jail in the Dade County House were sought by authorities today.

A seventh man, identified as the ringleader of the jail break, was seized soon after the prisoners attacked Guard Robert Hackett, used elevators to get from their 19th story cell block to the ground floor and fled.

Sheriff Tom Kelly said Daniel Sell, of Milwaukee, awaiting federal sentencing for stealing a car, plotted the escape which included plans to steal a plane and fly it out of the country.

The sheriff identified the two most dangerous escapees as Joseph Albert and William F. Chapman and said they faced 99-year sentences for murdering a Miami naturopath.

Churches Are Filled To Overflowing In Moscow And New York

(By The Associated Press)

The Christian world drew new strength from hopes lighted 2,000 years ago as it celebrated the resurrection and turned its eyes to Panmunjom yesterday for a sign of peace.

In Moscow, capital of the East, and New York, metropolis of the West, and in all the cities and towns between churches were filled to overflowing.

Korea Soldiers Pray

In Korea, soldiers knelt at sunrise before the cross on hilltop and in bunker. As the day was dying in the West a new day in the East brought together at Panmunjom the representatives who would perhaps find the way to a new peace.

In Old Jerusalem, scene of the crucifixion and the resurrection, church bells called worshipers to Easter services in many languages and rites.

Around the Church of the Holy Sepulchre the Armenians, Roman Catholics and Greek Orthodox held their services and celebrated their masses. Most Protestants read the scriptures and sang their hymns in the garden tomb within sight of Calvary.

Consuls of nine nations crossed the no man's land between Old and New Jerusalem through Jaffa Gate and led a colorful procession of monks and pilgrims to the Holy Sepulchre, attended by Arab Legion guards. The city was jammed with 4,000 to 5,000 tourists and pilgrims.

Pope Gives Blessing

A massive assembly of about half a million Catholics in St. Peter's Square in Vatican City, the largest gathering there since the 1950 holy year, received the traditional Easter blessing from Pope Pius XII and cheered a new call for peace.

Moscow dispatches said the Soviet capital's Orthodox churches were crowded to the doors by young and old, many of whom brought Easter cakes and eggs to be blessed. The radio in Communist Albania said all churches there, too, were filled to capacity.

Weather Is Ideal

In Washington, President Eisenhower led the nation to worship. He and Mrs. Eisenhower attended services at the National Presbyterian Church and heard the minister read a prayer of thankfulness for the "new promise of peace."

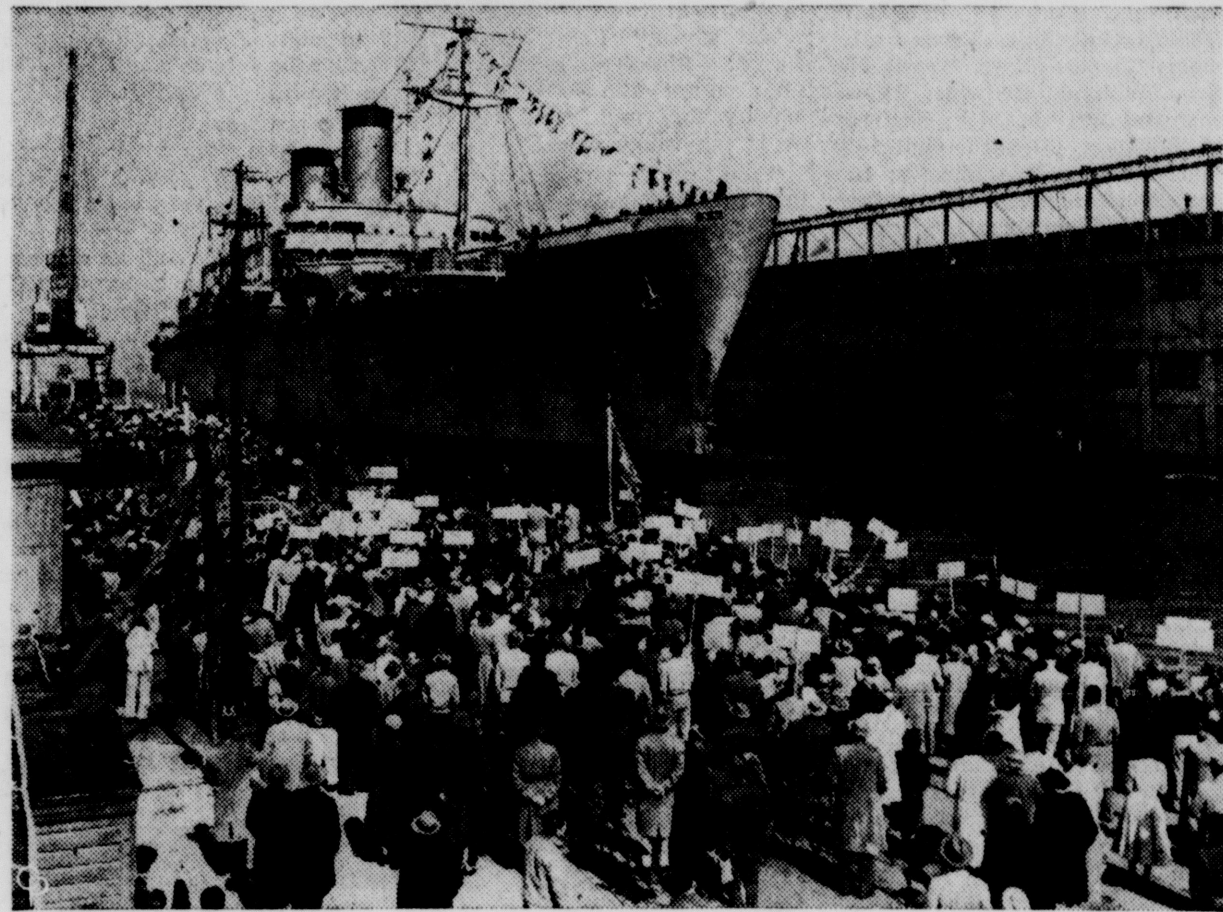

A brilliant sun and indulgent weather swelled New York's traditional Easter Parade on Fifth Avenue to record proportions. The strolling crowds in their finery overflowed the sidewalks and took possession of the broad thoroughfare and the sidestreets.

Loses His Fiancee, Man Jumps To Death

CHAMONIX, France, April 5 (AP)—A 30-year-old Briton spending an Easter holiday here with his Scottish fiancee was driven to despair today when he learned that she had died in an avalanche. The lover, Edward S. Simpson, leaped to his death from a 75-foot high rock.

OSLO, Norway, April 5 (AP)—Three persons perished in Easter week end avalanches which struck skiing parties in Norway. Four other persons are listed by the Red Cross as missing.

Welcome Home

Carrying "Welcome Home" banners, thousands of relatives and friends crowd the dock at Brooklyn Army Base as the transport General William Weigel comes to berth with 2,238 Korean veterans aboard. They are the first to return directly to the East Coast from Japan and New York staged a gala celebration.

Assembly Has Much To Finish On Final Day

ANNAPOLIS, April 5 (AP)—An edgy Senate and House of Delegates convene tomorrow for what is scheduled to be the final—and probably the longest—day of the 1953 session.

There's still a lot to be done, and tempers are getting shorter. The General Assembly must wind up its business by midnight tomorrow, according to the calendar. But there's the old trick of stopping the clock just before midnight and going on. The session is limited to 90 days, in odd years, by law.

Still waiting final disposition are the big $68-million-dollar roads program, the automatic tax reduction plan, another year's suspension of leasing oyster bottoms, opening the Potomac river to dredging, and a bill to take the sales tax off household fuels.

The highway improvement program, amended considerably before passed by the House, goes before the Senate for final action. The program has been delayed by a bloc of Democratic senators as a weapon to try to get its pet project, the automatic tax-reduction plan, through the House.

The tax plan—which would return budget surpluses back to the taxpayer in the form of tax reductions—failed to pass the House Saturday, but to placate the economy bloc in the Senate, the bill is to be reconsidered tomorrow.

There is no assurance it will be any more successful this time.

Despite the Senate's delaying tactics with the roads program, it was generally felt it would be approved, as amended, without much trouble from the Senate.

The plan calls for a long-range program of building and highway rejuvenation covering every county in the state.

The three veterans' bonus bills have been written off as dead. But only for this session.

Hope Abandoned For Sub's Crew

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 6 (AP)—All hope was abandoned tonight for 81 American-trained Turkish sailors who went down in the rammed submarine Dumplinpar in the Dardanelles yesterday. The Defense Ministry issued a communique detailing the loss of life: seven officers, 35 petty officers, 39 enlisted men.

Up until the very last moment this Easter Sunday, rescue teams labored on the slim chance that some life might still be found aboard, even though the vessel lay 228 feet down.

The submarine, formerly the U. S. S. Bumper, collided in pre-dawn darkness with the 4,000-ton Swedish freighter Naboland near the southern end of the Dardanelles.

The Armed Services information office yesterday listed 96 officers and men aboard. But the Defense Ministry tonight gave the figure as 86. Five men, including the Dumplinpar's skipper, were saved. These five were on the conning tower at the time the 1,526-ton Dumplinpar, a modern ship equipped with a snorkel underwater breathing device, was rammed while cruising on the surface from Canakkale toward Istanbul.

Two Kidnapers Are Slain By Fast-Shooting Sheriff

HOT SULPHUR SPRINGS, Colo., April 5 (AP)—Two young gunmen kidnaped Sheriff Chauncey Van Pelt and then died before his blazing six-shooter yesterday in the climax to a wild chase through a blinding snowstorm high in the Colorado Rockies.

Van Pelt, a rough-tough sheriff whose career rivals that of any in the Wild West, slipped away from his office today for a quiet Easter dinner—his first relaxation since the gunfight.

Identification of the dead kidnapers was not positive, but Van Pelt said they carried papers indicating they were Harold Dean Glass, 21, of Perry, Okla., and Roy Willard Kane, 23, of Pecos, Tex.

The 44-year-old sheriff said they told him they were wanted for murder in Oklahoma. Denver police said the Oklahoma State Crime Bureau reported Glass and Kane have been sought for questioning in the slaying two weeks ago of Harold Cruse, 44, of Lamont, Okla., who resisted a hold-up.

Van Pelt told this account of his kidnaping and the subsequent shooting of the youths:

A tourist came into his office and reported there was a car off the road five miles east of this town, 95 miles west of Denver.

"So I drove out to check. The snow was so heavy I could hardly see. When I got there, I found the car with two hitchhikers in it. They said the driver and his companion had gone into Granby to get a wrecker.

"Pretty soon a wrecker drove up with a driver and two men in it. The driver got out. It was snowing so hard I couldn't see the other two, but I already checked the license plate on that car and knew it was stolen.

"I walked over to the wrecker. Both men came out with their 45s leveled at me. They forced me to the middle of the road and then ordered me into the back seat of my car. I had my .32 special inside my jacket."

"I had been talking to the guys all along," said Van Pelt, "trying to shift their attention. You'll hit a snag when you hit that roadblock ahead," I said.

"At that, the fellow with the gun turned his head just long enough for me to grab my gun. I never shot first, and got him with the first one."

"The other guy whirled around with his .45 in his left hand but I fired first and got him. He didn't have a chance to pull the trigger."

"As his body slipped down his feet hit the accelerator and we started through town full speed. I dropped my gun and reached over and grabbed the wheel. I jumped over the seat, switched off the ignition and jammed on the brakes, just before we hit the roadblock."

State Department May Drop Agencies

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) called today for action to strip the State Department of the Voice of America, and other operating agencies.

Ferguson, chairman of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee on State Department administrative problems, said in an interview he believes Secretary of State Dulles will advocate such moves in a drive for drastic reductions in personnel.

Korean Peace Talks Resume At Panmunjom

First Meeting Since Last October; POW Exchange Is Agenda

MUNSAN, Korea, Monday, April 6 (AP)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators open talks today on the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war in a test of good faith that could lead to ending the 33-months old war in Korea.

The meeting of new liaison groups was set for 10 a.m. (8 p.m. Sunday, EST) at Panmunjom, the neutral truce negotiation site.

It was the first time since full scale armistice negotiations broke down last Oct. 8 that high level delegates of the United Nations Command and the Red high command agreed to meet across the conference table. The U. N. team was headed by Rear Adm. John C. Daniel.

Speed Agreement

Even in advance of the meeting Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. commander in Tokyo moved dramatically to speed a truce agreement.

Clark asked the Communist high command Sunday to give him a detailed plan for settling the entire question of repatriating prisoners—the only issue blocking an armistice.

Clark asked for Communist views on the repatriation issue "in order that it may be studied while the exchange of sick and wounded was being worked out."

The Reds have insisted on getting back all Chinese and North Korean POWs while the U. N. just as strongly maintained it would not return about 51,000 who refuse to go back to their homelands. The U. N. lists about 132,000 POWs in South Korean stockades.

Red China's Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai on March 22 called for an overall prisoner exchange in two steps: after hostilities end, exchange all prisoners willing to be exchanged; secondly, turn over prisoners unwilling to be repatriated to a neutral state. While held by the neutral state the prisoners will be subject to interrogation by the Reds or the U. N. Command.

Number Not Disclosed

The Communists also agreed to the U. N. Command proposal of Feb. 22 for the exchange of sick and wounded captives while hostilities still were under way.

With this agreement in advance, all that remained to be settled at Monday's meeting were the physical arrangements for the transfer—officially named by the Allies as "Operation Little Switch."

The number of disabled POWs to be exchanged was not disclosed officially by either side prior to the meeting. Much would depend on a definition of words. For example, would a prisoner who lost an arm or a leg who later recovered be excluded from the transfer?

Clark originally proposed exchange of the "seriously sick and wounded."

But in his letter Sunday Clark omitted the word "seriously."

Clark also used the words "captured personnel" instead of military prisoners—a broad indication that the U. N. commander may ask the Reds to return civilians interned by the Reds as well as military prisoners.

Hold Many Civilians

It is estimated the Communists hold about 150 civilians of various nationalities including diplomats, newsmen, businessmen, missionaries and church workers.

The South Korean government served notice in advance it expected to gain satisfaction on five "minimum demands" before it would agree to an over-all truce.

The demands included the withdrawal of Chinese Communist forces from Korea, disarmament of North Korean Red forces and guarantee that there would be no infringement on South Korean sovereignty.

The liaison group meeting touched off feverish advance preparations by the U. N. Command for an exchange of the sick and wounded POWs.

"Freedom Village"—a fully equipped and staffed receiving and processing center and Army mobile hospital—sprung up near Munsan in less than 24 hours and was put through a "dry run" on Easter.

Stolen Paintings Believed Headed For Europe Sale

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—Stolen religious paintings worth a large fortune may have been destined for sale in Europe, an FBI agent said today.

Eleven men have been arrested in connection with the theft of nine paintings from St. Joseph's Pro-cathedral at Bardonia, Ky., last Nov. 12.

The paintings were recovered Friday night in Chicago. Three of them, described as priceless masterpieces, are Murillo's "Crowning of the Blessed Virgin," Rubens' "Flaying of St. Bartholomew," and Van Eyck's "Descent of the Holy Ghost."

Kline Weatherford, agent in charge of the FBI Chicago office, declined to discuss details of the thefts and handling of the treasures since they were cut jaggedly from their frames in the Kentucky church. One of the men in custody, the agent said, actually committed the theft.

He said the three old masters' works and a painting by Jacob Hant called "Immaculate Conception" were found in the automobile of Norton I. Kretsch, 47, of Chicago, a former assistant U. S. attorney, when Kretsch and Gus Mantongelli, 52, of New York, steward on a transatlantic liner, were seized Friday at a near North Side parking lot.

The other five pictures were recovered from a Chicago art dealer. Weatherford said the FBI investigation included the possibility that Mantongelli might have been hired to smuggle four of the paintings to Europe. There, presumably, they could have been disposed of at higher prices and with less risk than in the United States.

No definite value has been placed on the pictures, but Weatherford said he had been told the collection, a gift to the church by King Louis Philippe of France who reigned from 1830 to 1848, were valued at close to one million dollars.

$10,000 In Gold Bars Are Recovered

HONG KONG, April 5 (AP)—Revenue officers seized 37 gold bars valued at $10,000 from a Swedish vessel here Saturday, and arrested three Hong Kong Chinese on charges of gold smuggling.

The gold was found in the vessel's water tank and in the captain's cabin. It apparently had been brought aboard before the ship sailed from Kobe, Japan.

Congress Asks Man In Street For His Ideas

Joint Committee To Study Present Setup; Mail Questionnaires

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Congress is clearing the decks for the first complete revision of tax laws since 1875—with plenty of help from the man in the street.

As a preliminary to the revision program, the Joint Senate-House Committee on Taxation sent out questionnaires all over the country to get people's ideas on taxes.

Colin Stamm, the committee's staff director, said the people are not reticent on the subject. More than 13,000 suggestions for changes have come from more than 5,000 individuals in every state in the Union. A few are still coming in.

What do the people think about taxes?

Taxes Are Too High

They're too high, of course. But aside from that, Stamm said, the opinions will be "very helpful" as congressional committees tackle the big revision job.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the House Ways and Means Committee has given the revision a big place on his agenda this year.

Plans call for starting soon a study of every section of what Reed calls the "crazy-quilt" present tax structure. Laws have been added one by one since 1875, Reed says, often with little regard for the effect one provision may have on another.

The idea is to study the merit, justice and clarity of each provision—rewriting, eliminating, or adding new provisions as necessary. A composite new law should be ready for action early next year.

Conceivably the study could lead to basic changes affecting the proportion of federal expenses borne by personal income taxes, corporate income levies, excise or sales taxes, etc.

What have the folks back home been talking about?

With no effort at placing them according to importance or the number of complaints, Stamm said these are some of the subjects most frequently mentioned:

Permitting a deduction, as a business expense, for wages paid to baby sitters by working mothers, especially in low income groups. Occasional baby sitting while the parents take a night out would not be included in this relief.

Increasing exemptions for dependents, now $600 per head.

Increasing deductions for medical expenses. Present law permits deduction only of medical expenses exceeding 5 per cent of annual income.

Abolishing the present requirement for an advance declaration of estimated income for millions of persons. Sen. George (D-Ga.) has urged this step.

World At Easter Finds New Strength In Hope For Peace

Policeman Gets Mayor's OK For Play With Kids

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—Policeman Harold Berglund, 47, has been worried about what Mayor Martin H. Kennelly must think of him.

The only three times the mayor has observed Berglund on duty the policeman was (1) teaching a youngster to spin a top, (2) teaching three small boys to salute, and (3) riding a youngster's bike he had just repaired.

Berglund's worries were detailed in a Chicago Tribune story.

Today, the policeman learned that Kennelly had read the item, chuckled and commented, "We need more cops like that."

Korean Peace Talks Resume At Panmunjom

First Meeting Since Last October; POW Exchange Is Agenda

MUNSAN, Korea, Monday, April 6 (AP)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators open talks today on the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war in a test of good faith that could lead to ending the 33-months old war in Korea.

The meeting of new liaison groups was set for 10 a.m. (8 p.m. Sunday, EST) at Panmunjom, the neutral truce negotiation site.

It was the first time since full scale armistice negotiations broke down last Oct. 8 that high level delegates of the United Nations Command and the Red high command agreed to meet across the conference table. The U. N. team was headed by Rear Adm. John C. Daniel.

Speed Agreement

Even in advance of the meeting Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. commander in Tokyo moved dramatically to speed a truce agreement.

Clark asked the Communist high command Sunday to give him a detailed plan for settling the entire question of repatriating prisoners—the only issue blocking an armistice.

Clark asked for Communist views on the repatriation issue "in order that it may be studied while reasonable settlement" of the exchange of sick and wounded was being worked out.

The Reds have insisted on getting back all Chinese and North Korean POWs while the U. N. just as strongly maintained it would not return about 51,000 who refuse to go back to their homelands. The U. N. lists about 132,000 POWs in South Korean stockpiles.

Red China's Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai on March 28 called for an over-all prisoner exchange in two steps: after hostilities end, exchange all prisoners willing to be exchanged; secondly, turn over prisoners unwilling to be repatriated to a neutral state. While held by the neutral state the prisoners will be subject to interrogation by the Reds or the U. N. Command.

Number Not Disclosed

The Communists also agreed to the U. N. Command proposal of Feb. 22 for the exchange of sick and wounded captives while hostilities still were under way.

With this agreement in advance, all that remained to be settled at Monday's meeting were the physical arrangements for the transfer—officially named by the Allies as "Operation Little Switch."

The number of disabled POWs to be exchanged was not disclosed officially by either side prior to the meeting. Much would depend on a definition of words. For example, would a prisoner who lost an arm or a leg and who later recovered be excluded from the transfer?

Clark originally proposed exchange of the "seriously sick and wounded."

But in his letter Sunday Clark omitted the word "seriously."

Clark also used the words "captured personnel" instead of military prisoners—a broad indication that the U. N. commander may ask the Reds to return civilians interned by the Reds as well as military prisoners.

Hold Many Civilians

It is estimated the Communists hold about 150 civilians of various nationalities including diplomats, newsmen, businessmen, missionaries and church workers.

The South Korean government served notice in advance it expected to gain satisfaction on five "minimum demands" before it would agree to an over-all truce. The demands included the withdrawal of Chinese Communist forces from Korea, disarmament of North Korean Red forces and guarantee that there would be no infringement on South Korean sovereignty.

The liaison group meeting touched off feverish advance preparations by the U. N. Command for an exchange of the sick and wounded POWs.

"Freedom Village"—a fully equipped and staffed receiving and processing center and Army mobile hospital—sprung up near Munsan in less than 24 hours and was put through a "dry run" on Easter.

Stolen Paintings Believed Headed For Europe Sale

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—Stolen religious paintings worth a large fortune may have been destined for sale in Europe, an FBI agent said today.

Eleven men have been arrested in connection with the theft of nine paintings from St. Joseph's Cathedral at Bardonia, N.Y., last Nov. 12.

The paintings were recovered Friday night in Chicago. Three of them, described as priceless masterpieces, are Murillo's "Crowning of the Blessed Virgin," Rubens' "Flaying of St. Bartholomew," and Van Eyck's "Descent of the Holy Ghost."

Kline Weatherford, agent in charge of the FBI Chicago office, declined to discuss details of the thefts and handling of the art treasures since they were cut jaggedly from their frames in the Kentucky church. One of the men in custody, the agent said, actually committed the theft.

He said the three old masters' works and a painting by Jacob Hant called "Immaculate Conception" were found in the automobile of Norton I. Kretsch, 47, of Chicago, a former assistant U. S. attorney, when Kretsch and Gus Mantongli, 52, of New York, steward on a transatlantic liner, were seized Friday at a near North Side parking lot.

The other five pictures were recovered from a Chicago art dealer. Weatherford said the FBI investigation included the possibility that Mantongli might have been hired to smuggle four of the paintings to Europe. There, presumably, they could have been disposed of at higher prices and with less risk than in the United States.

No definite value has been placed on the pictures, but Weatherford said he had been told the collection, a gift to the church by King Louis Philippe of France who reigned from 1830 to 1848, were valued at close to one million dollars.

Stove Explosion Kills Mother, 4 Children

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 5 (AP)—An oil stove explosion in a duplex mine dwelling at nearby Edinboro today killed a 35-year-old mother and four of her children. The father rescued five other children with the help of a neighbor. All those saved suffered burns.

Killed in the blast were Mrs. Ruth Johnson, a month-old daughter, Rebecca, Carolyn, 13, Robert, 3, and Catherine, 5.

140,000 Expected To View Belgium Royalty Wedding

LUXEMBOURG, April 5 (AP)—A prince and a princess will marry here next Thursday and harassed officials are developing headaches over how to handle Luxembourg's greatest-ever peaceful invasion.

The capital's 70,000 population is expected to swell to 140,000 when quiet Prince Jean of Luxembourg, heir to the grand dukedom of the tiny state, weds his childhood sweetheart, Princess Josephine Charlotte, sister of Belgium's King Baudouin.

Congress Asks Man In Street For His Ideas

Joint Committee To Study Present Setup; Mail Questionnaires

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Congress is clearing the decks for the first complete revision of tax laws since 1875—with plenty of help from the man in the street.

As a preliminary to the revision program, the Joint Senate-House Committee on Taxation sent out questionnaires all over the country to get people's ideas on taxes.

Colin Stamm, the committee's staff director, said the people are not reticent on the subject. More than 13,000 suggestions for changes have come from more than 5,000 individuals in every state in the Union. A few are still coming in.

What do the people think about taxes?

Taxes Are Too High

They're too high, of course. But aside from that, Stamm said, the opinions will be "very helpful" as congressional committees tackle the big revision job.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) of the House Ways and Means Committee has given the revision a big place on his agenda this year.

Plans call for starting soon a study of every section of what Reed calls the "crazy-quilt" present tax structure. Laws have been added one by one since 1875, Reed says, often with little regard for the effect one provision may have on another.

The idea is to study the merit, justice and clarity of each provision — rewriting, eliminating, or adding new provisions as necessary. A composite new law should be ready for action early next year.

Conceivably the study could lead to basic changes affecting the proportion of federal expenses borne by personal income taxes, corporation income levies, excise or sales taxes, etc.

What have the folks back home been talking about? With no effort at placing them according to importance or the number of complaints, Stamm said these are some of the subjects most frequently mentioned:

Permitting a deduction, as a business expense, for wages paid to baby sitters by working mothers, especially in low income groups. Occasional baby sitting while the parents take a night out would not be included in this relief.

Increase Exemptions

Increasing exemptions for dependents, now $600 per head.

Increasing deductions for medical expenses. Present law permits deduction only of medical expenses exceeding 5 per cent of annual income.

Abolishing the present requirement for an advance declaration of estimated income for millions of persons. Sen. George (D-Ga.) has urged this step.

$10,000 In Gold Bars Are Recovered

HONG KONG, April 5 (AP)—Revenue officers seized 37 gold bars valued at $10,000 from a Swedish vessel here Saturday, and arrested three Hong Kong Chinese on charges of gold smuggling.

The gold was found in the vessel's water tank and in the captain's cabin. It apparently had been brought aboard before the ship sailed from Kobe, Japan.

State's Chronic Illness Hospital Near Completion

By The End Of Month Montebello To Open

The State's $600,000 remodeling project to convert the old Sydenham site in Baltimore from a communicable disease hospital to a chronic illness hospital is nearing completion, Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the State Health Department, has announced.

With the opening of Montebello, as the converted hospital will be known, Ritchie Chronic Disease Hospital in Washington County, which was recently purchased by the U. S. Army, will be closed. The 50 patients now hospitalized there will be transferred to Montebello by the latter part of this month.

Outlined Its Purpose
"This project demonstrates the conversion of a medical facility, which has outlined its original purpose, to a current and more urgent medical need," Dr. Riley says. "The reason for the conversion of Sydenham, which since 1924 has served as the municipal center for the treatment of contagious diseases, is that the city no longer needs the site for this purpose."

"Medicine has advanced to the point where isolation hospitalization is no longer needed for scarlet fever, diphtheria and other one time contagious diseases, which were prevalent among children. New methods of treatment have removed the formerly dangerous diseases from the roster of major public health problems," he added.

Originally designed principally for the care of children, the hospital building has been remodeled to accommodate adults in wards and one and two patient rooms. In order to provide additional patient areas to the 100-bed hospital, the three story nursing home and the two story laundry building are being adapted for patient occupancy. With the remodeling of these two buildings, Montebello will be able to care for 212 patients.

Because of the great need for hospital space, a new building is to be erected in the future on the 30-acre site to increase the hospital's capacity to approximately 500 patients.

200 On Waiting List
Almost 200 people are on the waiting list for admission to chronic disease hospitals according to Dr. James A. McCallum, chief of the State's Division of Chronic Disease Hospitals.

"The recruitment of the necessary personnel will govern the hospital's expansion," Dr. McCallum says. Although most of the professional and clerical employees at Ritchie will be transferred to Montebello, there is a need for six registered nurses, 30 hospital attendants and about 15 persons for housekeeping jobs. Applicants for these positions are urged to contact Dr. McCallum as soon as possible.

Dedication ceremonies for Montebello are being planned for the second week of May when Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will give the principal address.

Teenagers! All this week this column is devoted to your beauty problems! Don't miss one of them!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

This week this column dedicates itself especially to the beauty problems of our teen readers, though they are all problems that beset many others as well.

Typifying one of the major complaints in this letter from a high school charmer:

"I was simply crushed when I got my new spring outfit. I'd gone from a size 13 to a size 15—and it wasn't because I'd grown taller! The trouble seems to be all in my middle section—waist, hips and tummy. Just think of how horrible I'm going to look in a swim suit and the beach season is almost here!"

Mid-section Trimmer

Well, my young lovely and all of your sisters who are keeping you company in your misery, what's troubling you is what might be termed the last of your "baby" fat. You can hasten its departure if you are willing; you can even rid yourself of it by swimming suit time. Instead of pouting over your mid-section's heaviness, just get busy performing the "strap" exercise that follows. Be faithful to it daily and the figure you long for will emerge in plenty of time.

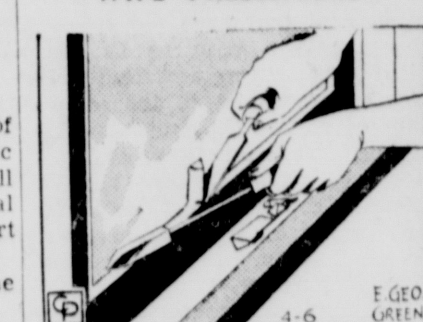

Dig into your dresser drawer for a strong, flexible leather belt. This is the gimmick that will double your efforts and bring you results in half the usual time. And now let's get to work.

Lie on your back on the floor. Hold your stomach in firmly and pull your legs back so that both knees point upward to the ceiling and your feet are off the floor. Hold the strap in both hands out toward the ends. Hook it around your shins and pull back hard on it. Got the position? Then let's begin trimming!

Motion Of Ocean

Without letting your shoulders leave the floor, roll both knees over to the right until they almost touch the floor. Then, slowly begin to roll them to the left.

WIFE PRESERVERS

To remove stubborn putty, try using a heated soldering iron to soften it. Hold the soldering iron just ahead of the chisel as you work.

Church Slates Youth Week

Observance of Youth Week began yesterday in First Baptist Church and will continue until next Sunday.

Rev. O. Afton Linger, pastor, yesterday directed an address to the youths and formally turned over the church to them. They will be in charge of the Sunday School, Training Union, Missionary Union and other offices and auxiliary organizations of the church.

The youth officers will be as follows: Deacons, Gene Weber, chairman, Robert Hanekamp, Richard Guthridge, Edward Alexander, Charles Hinz, Wayne Herpich, William Godwin, Richard Darr and Jerry Matlick; Chairman of Trustees, Richard Guthridge; Church Clerk, Ella Sheally; Sunday School Superintendent, Jerry Matlick; General Secretary, Charles Hinz; Adult Superintendent, Ronald Sheally; Young People, Ann Matheny; Intermediate, Erma Davis.

Training Union Director, William Godwin; Church clerk, Wayne Herpich; Woman's Missionary Union president, Roberta Markwood; secretary, Joyce Smith; Church ushers, Jerry Matlick, Gene Weber, William Godwin, and Robert Hanekamp.

The mid-week prayer services will be led with a message by Miss Nancy Long.

Friday evening (April 10) a banquet in honor of the Youth Officers will be given by the Training Union. The week will be climaxed with a Youth choir at next Sunday evening services.

The committee preparing the program is comprised of Mesdames H. R. Matlick, Carl Herpich, Goldie Maloney and O. Afton Linger.

The Secret Weapon

A small, middle-aged, bent man with thick eyeglasses wandered into my office the other day. He was almost a hunchback, as if he had spent most of his life leaning over a drafting board or a book.

Without any preliminaries, he announced, "I have a way to stop war."

"Sit down," I said. "You're the man I'm looking for, and so is the whole world."

"You see," he explained, "I have thought up an idea. It is a secret weapon based on the guided missile theory, only it is aimed at individuals. You can pick out any person on earth, man or woman, and paste the picture of the target on this lethal package. Then you put it in the mail, and the letter lingers along with no danger to anyone else. When it gets there, and the photograph matches the face of the recipient, BANG! He's finished."

"Great," I said a little nervously, for fear my visitor might have a hidden camera. "But how is that going to stop war?"

"Only General Eisenhower, you

"Simple," he answered. "All we've got to do is warn Malenkov, Molotov, Beria, Bulganin and the rest of the members of the new first team of the Soviets what we have. Tell them if they don't pipe down and behave themselves, each will get a mash note containing a one-way ticket to join Comrade Stalin. You know everybody wants to save his own skin, and my idea is to start at the top and work down. It's the same principle as a guided missile."

"Sounds fine," I agreed. "You say all you have to do is to put the picture inside, and the dose will go straight to its target, like a homing pigeon."

He nodded. "Suppose there are identical twins," I suggested. "Will it pick out the one you want or blow them both to hell?"

He was ready with an answer. "There are no twins among the Russian leaders," he said. "Of course, if there were, you always face the risk of getting the wrong one."

By now I was pretty enthusiastic about this world-rocking idea. It seemed simple to use individuals instead of airplanes for targets.

"How many people know about this self-aiming jib?"

He looked around the room carefully.

"Only General Eisenhower, you and I," he replied. "I wrote him, but so far haven't had a reply."

"When do we get started?" I asked him. He paused, hung his head thoughtfully and seemed somewhat dismayed and dejected.

"There is only one weakness," he admitted. "What's that?"

"So far, I haven't been able to figure out how to produce this deadly weapon to save the world."

He picked up his hat and turned to leave. He handed me a card. "If you want to reach me any time, here is my telephone number."

After he had gone I checked, and it turned out to be a sanitarium near Stamford, Conn. Maybe the gentleman really has something, though. It doesn't sound any crazier than target-seeking projectiles did a few years ago.

Just Let It Fade Away

Republicans and many Democrats in Congress are in agreement with President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey on what to do about the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The decision is not to abolish it now but to let it fade away on June 30, 1954, when the legal authority for it expires, and meanwhile to curtail its functions.

There was much sentiment in favor of Senator Byrd's proposal to end the RFC next January 1 and require liquidation in the two succeeding years. But Chairman Capehart of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee and Chairman Wolcott of the counterpart group in the House both felt this would be impractical. Some loans have as long as 10 years to run and they are unacceptable by banks.

But the days of this agency are numbered, which is a good thing. The corporation began life on January 22, 1933, as a government instrument to shore up banks and railroads threatened by the depression. New duties were found for it during World War II and later.

But there are clear warnings that it has outlived its usefulness. These warnings have come during the last two years as congressional investigations have shown that a number of recent loans have been highly questionable, that undue influence has been used to get loans from the agency, that persons in a position to make loans possible have accepted gifts from loan-seekers.

Moreover, it is doubtful that the federal government should be in the lending business at all during prosperous times.

There is a strong temptation for the government to hang on to an agency that has been in existence for 20 years. But in this case the temptation should be overcome.

Customer Always Wrong

Customers can be belabored and insulted in this country so long as they think it is funny. If it isn't, the old law of supply and demand takes over, and the customer takes his buck somewhere else.

But in East Germany, where the government is the benevolent shopkeeper, things are different. West German newspapers reveal that people in the East Zone are now being allowed to criticize the quality of goods sold in the shops, 90 per cent of which are under a government monopoly.

One man wrote in to say that he took his new umbrella out in a heavy rain and water ran down through it and down the handle and he got completely soaked. Several days later a letter in the same paper informed the unhappy buyer that he should have known better than to take his umbrella out in the rain anyhow.

A woman whose shoes were too tight was told she wasn't using common sense—just cut out the toes of the shoes and they wouldn't hurt. And so on and on and on.

The East Germans were making a great-to-do about the freedom of the happy residents there to complain about anything that struck their fancy. The copycats! But West German editors, who know a great deal about the way the master minds work across the border, smelled a rat. Customers with a beef had to have their full names and addresses published along with the complaints.

The West Germans noted that probably the man with holes in his umbrella would now have little to worry about. His next complaint, if indeed he could make one, would probably concern the sudden appearance of holes in his head.

Kentucky Windage

Because the cockpit of an F-86 Sabre jet looks like a gadgeteer's nightmare, and because jets hurtle across vast areas of space in a matter of seconds, the Air Force thought the pilots might need a good gun-sight. So they ran one up, at a cost of umpteen thousand dollars, and figured everyone could be a Daniel Boone. They're not far off. The ratio of kills in fights between F-86s and MIG-15s is approximately eight-to-one in favor of the U. S. plane.

But apparently the planners hadn't reckoned on the talents of a former Iowa farm boy who has destroyed 10 MIGs in 66 missions. Capt. Harold Fisher says that really it's nothin'. All you do is use what he calls "Kentucky windage," which means leading 'em. The young aviator says he just fires bursts in front of the MIG and lets the enemy fly into the burst.

Now, this sounds pretty simple. The Air Force pilot learned all about Kentucky windage sitting in duck blinds. The duck hunter fires ahead of the duck and lets him fly into the pattern. But the explanation doesn't show the December sleet spitting in your face, stiff hands fumbling to get the gun up and on the lead duck, and the combination of the cold and the excitement making you shiver like the retriever tied to one of the posts of the blind. And the radar sight, which is supposed to do innumerable calculations in the wink of an eye, isn't infallible.

That's why we can give thanks for youngsters who have sat in freezing duck blinds and applied their lessons when it counted most. Earlier generations sent up the same prayer of thanks—at times when the youngster's weapon was a muzzle loader instead of an F-86 with radar sight.

Put On The Spot Again

Washington proceeded with more than ordinary caution in replying to the latest peace proposals by the Chinese Communists. It's the proper course. Much as everyone would welcome an immediate exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war and a reopening of trade negotiations, these conciliatory offers more often than not are the velvet glove which conceals the iron hand within.

Still and all, in the absence of specified evidence to the effect that this is another trap, the United States could not afford to do less than assume that here is an honest effort to reach some sort of agreement. The country may be disillusioned later—as has been the case before—but a failure to respond affirmatively would have handed the Soviet government a propaganda weapon of the utmost value. The U. S. could then be cited in the United Nations and before the rest of the world as unwilling to end the Korean conflict. The U. S. could likewise be accused of making a mockery of its promise, voiced only the other day by President Eisenhower, that it is always ready to meet Russia at least half way in any effort to resolve differences between the East and the West.

So the United States and its allies are on the spot again. That it is not a comfortable place to be sitting is best indicated by the suspicions which the Chinese proposals have aroused in much of the free world and by the general belief that it is best to go slow in reaching a decision.

Living With High Blood Pressure

Many individuals can do much to help themselves by rearranging their living and working habits. But they prefer to take pills as an easier method of reducing their tension. They look forward to their weekly visit to the physician on Tuesday or Friday and after the reading is taken invariably ask, "What is my pressure this time?"

In my opinion, the majority of men and women with hypertension would live longer, be happier, and have lower blood pressure if they were more philosophical about the condition and let the family doctor do the worrying. Furthermore the height of the blood pressure is not half as important as what the elevation is doing to the heart, kidneys and brain. In the circumstances it would be much better to ask "How is the old ticker behaving today?" and receive an encouraging answer than to walk away with the chin dragging in the mud because the reading is two points higher than it was the week previous.

We all realize that people die of high blood pressure but they also are killed in automobiles, while crossing the street, and for that matter, succumb to old age. We have learned not to spend our time worrying about these unpleasant facts. The situation is not exactly comparable for the hypertensive except that knowing and worrying about the disorder make the reading higher. It is better to visit the physician for a general checkup only and to ask for his recommendations rather than the actual blood pressure level. Meanwhile, hypertension can be considered a warning that living and working conditions are too strenuous, exciting, nerve racking, or tiring. A good attitude, to adopt is: "I have inherited a personality that requires less tension and more rest. I must take care of my health and avoid excesses, overstimulation, and overweight." This is what the individual can do for himself.

Dr. Thomas F. Frist of Nashville, Tenn., recently told of two patients who had been coming to his office for many years because of high blood pressure. The first woman was under care for 14 years and during that time the pressure was never less than 260. The second had been observed for 10 years and her tension never was below 280. These women rarely had symptoms and were able to carry on their duties as housewives. The second had been attracted to this particular physician after hearing that he never told his patients their blood pressure readings; rather he assured them that should any complications of hypertension arise he would handle them the best way possible. She had been discouraged by her previous medical adviser because he scolded her continuously for this or that and warned her to such an extent that she was in a constant state of depression.

What are the symptoms of high blood pressure? This is a debatable point because many go through life without being bothered in the least; others never complain until they discover that the blood pressure has risen. Manifestations such as headache, dizziness, fatigue, nervousness, irritability, and insomnia usually are blamed on hypertension but these complaints are common and have been noted also in persons with low blood pressure.

Moscow Peace Overtures Came As No Surprise To Ex-Ambassador Kennan; Russian Moves May Prove Real Boon To President Eisenhower

WASHINGTON—Here are some background facts which may give insight into the difficult problem of peace in Korea.

Background Fact No. 1—Ex-Ambassador George Kennan, chief Russian expert in the State Department, advised Secretary Dulles in advance that a Russian peace barrage was coming. He cautioned that Maleskov, nervous over Soviet unrest, anxious for a time to consolidate his new power, would make spectacular moves aimed at convincing the world Russia wants peace—thereby also trying to split us from our allies. . . . Dulles largely ignored Kennan's advice, let Russia get the jump in the peace offensive. . . . Dulles has also refused to appoint Kennan to a new post. He will soon leave the State Department for Princeton.

Background Fact No. 2—The State Department floundered as to what move it should make to counter the Russian peace moves. So did the White House and the National Security Council. They knew Moscow was trying to paint in the role of warmonger, but couldn't come up with any convincing countermeasures except a fireside chat by Ike. . . . State Department officials meanwhile are divided in their reaction. Most members of the Russian division think Maleskov genuinely wants a breathing spell. West European and Far East experts consider the peace moves completely phony.

Background Fact No. 3—Lifting the Formosa blockade and the proposed use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops aren't paying off. Chiang seems more frightened of being invaded from the Communist mainland than he is anxious to invade the mainland. When Gen. Omar Bradley prepared a speech outlining the possible use of Chiang's troops in Korea, the State Department asked him to eliminate the reference — at Chiang's request. Chiang has become so jittery, the State Department said, he doesn't want any public discussion of his troops for fear it would invite attack.

Background Fact No. 4—The President badly needed the peace move in Korea. Ten weeks ago the Joint Chiefs of Staff proposed four alternative moves in Korea and he hasn't been able to make a decision. . . . With Truman the military men were more concrete. But with Eisenhower, who has spent all his life in the Army and made a special trip to Korea, the Joint Chiefs are letting him make the decisions. However, the decision isn't any easier than it was last fall, and Ike's political promises are beginning to be remembered. That's why Stalin's death and Maleskov's olive branches may be the luckiest break Ike ever got.

Background Fact No. 5—U. S. military men are skeptical about a Korean truce. They got their fingers burnt once before, were on the verge of victory, then sat and twiddled their thumbs for months while the Reds argued. . . . Now, they point out, the Reds can build up behind the Yalu River again while the negotiators argue again. . . . Military men devoutly want a peace which will end the war, but this can come only after the truce—which they fear. During the truce both sides withdraw from a demilitarized zone three miles wide, agree to call off air bombardments, thus leaving the Communists able to concentrate behind the Yalu while UN troops remain vulnerable to surprise air attack.

These are some of the factors being churned over in current discussions between the White House, State Department, and Pentagon. Out of them is likely to come:

1. A speech by President Eisenhower outlining the peace aims and ideals of the United States.

2. Cautious acceptance of prisoner exchange and truce terms—provided they are made without a lot of haggling around a conference table.

Out of all this, unfortunately, is not likely to come a genuine peace until and unless we manage to lift the artificial barrier against people-to-people friendship—the Iron Curtain.

Farmer At White House

It wasn't supposed to leak out of President Eisenhower's private office, but he clashed sharply over farm policy the other day with one of the nation's top farm leaders.

M. William Thatcher, president of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association of the Twin Cities, was invited to pay a "courtesy call" at the White House. When they got on the subject of farm surpluses, however, it developed into a lively donnybrook.

Thatcher urged using production controls such as acreage limitations and marketing quotas to hold down the surpluses. But the President emphatically disagreed.

"That's a device every intelligent man uses when he piles up too much stock and wants to cut it down," insisted the blunt-spoken farm leader.

"I don't believe in regimentation," Eisenhower replied firmly. "Then what are you going to do about the big surpluses?" demanded Thatcher.

The President proposed shifting production to other commodities. For example, he suggested that grain farmers might start raising livestock.

"The livestock men are having troubles of their own," retorted Thatcher. He then protested to the President against the imports of barley, oats, rye and wheat into this country from Canada. He argued that these imports were piling on top of our own surpluses and bogging down the support program.

"Our support prices have become ceilings and support prices for the entire world surplus," Thatcher claimed.

"We have got to have foreign trade," he replied.

Both agreed, however, that the international wheat agreement is necessary to help market our huge grain surpluses, and the President also promised: "One thing sure, I

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

Malenkov And The H-Bomb

WASHINGTON

"Malenkov knows that he can't win a war with the United States now. He could hurt us, but we'd clobber him, and in the end of him. But he also knows that it takes a few years he'll have what it takes to knock us out. So he wants to be sure that there's no big war in the meantime."

This is the simple explanation of the current Soviet switch in tactics which has been offered by one astute official. It may be right or it may be wrong. But it at least serves to emphasize a point which badly needs emphasizing. A Korean truce, however desirable in itself, will not end the growing threat to the survival of the United States.

The nature of this threat was summed up in the final report by the experts recruited for Project Lincoln. These experts solemnly warned that the Soviets, in two years' time or a little more, will have atomic capabilities sufficient to cripple this country. This is one reason why Andrei Y. Vishinsky's surprise move last Wednesday, when he called for renewed discussions of disarmament and atomic energy control, has been received in some quarters with almost as much interest as the Korean truce move itself.

May Talk Seriously

For the first time, Vishinsky failed to call for immediate "prohibition" of atomic weapons, and an immediate one-third reduction in great power armaments. These two demands, repeated tirelessly by Vishinsky for years, amounted to a request to the Western powers to sign their own death warrants. Their sudden omission may have no significance at all, although Soviet spokesmen in the United Nations took pains to put it about that this was a portentous new departure. At any rate, the Vishinsky move does at least suggest that the new Soviet regime might just conceivably, for the first time, be in a mood to talk seriously about atomic energy control.

For its part, the American government has been in process of carefully re-thinking American atomic policy. The re-thinking has been done by a distinguished five-man panel, headed by the great physicist, Dr. Robert Oppenheimer. Other members of the panel were Dr. Vannevar Bush and Dr. Joseph E. Johnson, both of the Carnegie Institute, Dr. John S. Dickey, of Dartmouth College, and Allen Dulles, of the Central Intelligence Agency.

These five men worked together on the problem of atomic control and the new weapons from April 1952, until just before the inauguration, when they handed in their final report to the White House and the State Department. The report is highly secret, and its conclusions are not known. But it is known that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles read the report carefully, and passed it on with detailed comments to President Eisenhower.

It is also known why the five-man group was recruited in the first place. As early as January 1950, when President Truman announced his intention to go ahead with work on the hydrogen bomb, physicists and others who knew what this decision really entailed, were already urging a "new, new look" at the problem of controlling the terrible new forces.

Disarmed By Force

For a long time, the old tendency to shove the whole unpleasant problem under the rug prevailed. But by the spring of 1952, it became known that the test of the world's first true hydrogen bomb was imminent, and the problem could not be kept under the rug. Therefore, the five-man Oppenheimer board was recruited, and asked to consider anew this country's policy on the new weapon.

The first hydrogen explosion, last November, lent special urgency to this task. Even the technicians were dismayed by the destructive force of the new device, and also by certain other special characteristics. This all-too-successful test, in fact, altered the nature of the world situation, for it opened up the possibility of total devastation of an entire nation. Indeed, for reasons already explained in this space, it opened up the distant possibility of the destruction of the human race.

In short, the problem which the Oppenheimer group considered is, to put it mildly, a serious one. But it is serious for the Soviets as well as for the United States. The Soviets will test their own hydrogen bomb one day—within two years is the best intelligence guess. But the United States will, presumably, at least make certain that if there is to be total devastation in a new war, the destruction will be mutual.

It was originally intended to put forward a new American proposal for controlling both atomic and hydrogen weapons at the time of the first hydrogen test last November. This was not done perhaps simply because the Oppenheimer panel found the problem so hideously difficult. One apparently insurmountable difficulty is that there can be no real control of the new weapons without untrammelled international inspection. Most Russian experts believe that no Soviet regime can accept free inspection, because of the very nature of the closed Soviet system. But if a Korean truce is in fact negotiated, the time may be ripe to discover if the Malenkov regime is capable of serious discussion about the new weapons, so that we shall at least know where we stand.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

When The Shoe Squeezes

I can find no record that Dr. George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College, complained when the Puyo, LaFollette, Pecora, Black or other committees of Congress investigated American businesses. The Nye Committee was run by Alger Hiss. The LaFollette Committee was infiltrated by Communists as the senator admitted in a magazine article. The Black Committee invaded the privacy of citizens.

But President Shuster did wax indignant over investigating the conduct of teachers and professors in schools and colleges. It is a question of whose foot the shoe squeezes.

Dr. Shuster is apparently class-conscious, as are so many college presidents and professors. Yet the fact is that Dr. Bolla Dodd, who was a Communist and had organized the teachers of New York, had been a teacher at Hunter College; and there are others there, as Dr. Shuster must know.

I mention this only because of the loud protests from the schools whenever anyone takes a look at what is going on in them and what teachers are doing to the minds of our children.

I heard a teacher say in the presence of 16-year-old boys that a true Christian must be an alien in every national state. What he really meant was that a "True Christian" owes his first allegiance to God and that that transcends loyalty to the country, the family and everything else. This might be called a universalist point of view, the One World concept of life which, while it is unrealistic in our day, may have the virtue of abstract idealism.

A man's opinions are his own in our free society and there should be no impairment of the right of an individual to advocate a cause. Nevertheless, our children are our own and we do not send them to school to be corrupted and perverted by teachers. When resentment to nationalism is taught with all

am not going to jerk the rug out from under the farmers."

In the end, Ike urged the grain terminal chief to "put your statements on paper and send it to me, and I'll send it over to (Secretary of Agriculture) Benson."

NOTE—Afterward, Thatcher told other farm leaders that if Eisenhower carries out his farm ideas, "you may as well go over and congratulate Sam Rayburn on being the next speaker." He meant that the Democrats would win control of Congress in 1954.

the authority that a teacher has over a child, to boys of 16 who live in the shadow of the draft, the impressionable mind may go farther than the teacher intends — and lives can be wrecked, the lives of your children and mine. A teacher who imposes untested private views on boys and girls in puberty assumes a function for which he is not hired.

Christianity does not benefit by this kind of propaganda. In these days, the only beneficiary can be our current enemy, Soviet Russia, whose desire is to destroy the will of our people to resist. Whenever Soviet Russia conquers a country, Christianity in all its forms is persecuted in that country.

I do not say, because I would be untrue, that those who advocate One World and dramatize their ideal by lessening the faith of Americans in their own country are Communists. Some of them are violently anti-Communist. But they are confused people who confuse our children. They advocate the impossible but clothe their assumptions in lofty language.

What responsibilities will they assume for boys who try to escape the draft and are jailed for it? Will they sit out the jail sentences for these boys or will they make speeches on the evils of a government killing its own sons by futile wars?

What responsibilities will they assume if our will to resist the enemy is so weakened that we fall from within as Czechoslovakia and Hungary fell because the will to resist was insufficient? Will they then say to Stalin's commissars that they believe in One World but not the Kremlin's One World?

When a teacher rejects love of country, he ought, in decency, no longer teach children of parents who do believe that national existence is essential for the survival of our country. To do less is to trick and fool the parents. It is a betrayal of a trust.

What would parents do about teachers who advocate free love or the virtues of prostitution to boys and girls in the impressionable years of puberty? There would be a terrific howl, the first moment the parents knew of it. And that should be the response of parents when teachers, for any reason whatsoever, impress upon young minds the virtues of betrayal and treason.

Let no one make a mistake: this is now happening in the United States and everything that is done to bring it into the open is justified and correct.

Just Let It Fade Away

Republicans and many Democrats in Congress are in agreement with President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey on what to do about the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The decision is not to abolish it now but to let it fade away on June 30, 1954, when the legal authority for it expires, and meanwhile to curtail its functions.

There was much sentiment in favor of Senator Byrd's proposal to end the RFC next January 1 and require liquidation in the two succeeding years. But Chairman Capehart of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee and Chairman Wolcott of the counterpart group in the House both felt this would be impractical. Some loans have as long as 10 years to run and they are unacceptable by banks.

But the days of this agency are numbered, which is a good thing. The corporation began life on January 22, 1933, as a government instrument to shore up banks and railroads threatened by the depression. New duties were found for it during World War II and later.

But there are clear warnings that it has outlived its usefulness. These warnings have come during the last two years as congressional investigations have shown that a number of recent loans have been highly questionable, that undue influence has been used to get loans from the agency, that persons in a position to make loans possible have accepted gifts from loan-seekers.

Moreover, it is doubtful that the federal government should be in the lending business at all during prosperous times.

There is a strong temptation for the government to hang on to an agency that has been in existence for 20 years. But in this case the temptation should be overcome.

Customer Always Wrong

Customers can be belabored and insulted in this country so long as they think it is funny. If it isn't, the old law of supply and demand takes over, and the customer takes his buck somewhere else.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Moscow Peace Overtures Came As No Surprise To Ex-Ambassador Kennan; Russian Moves May Prove Real Boon To President Eisenhower

WASHINGTON—Here are some background facts which may give insight into the difficult problem of peace in Korea.

Background Fact No. 1—Ex-Ambassador George Kennan, chief Russian expert in the State Department, advised Secretary Dulles in advance that a Russian peace barrage was coming. He cautioned that Malenkov, nervous over Soviet unrest, anxious for a time to consolidate his new power, would make spectacular moves aimed at convincing the world Russia wants peace—thereby also trying to split us from our allies.

Background Fact No. 2—The State Department floundered as to what move it should make to counter the Russian peace moves. So did the White House and the National Security Council. They knew Moscow was trying to paint us in the role of warmonger, but couldn't come up with any convincing countermove except a fireside chat by Ike. . . . State Department officials meanwhile are divided in their reaction. Most members of the Russian division think Malenkov genuinely wants a breathing spell. West European and Far East experts consider the peace moves completely phony.

Background Fact No. 3—Lifting the Formosa blockade and the proposed use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops aren't paying off. Chiang seems more frightened of being invaded from the Communist mainland than he is anxious to invade the mainland. When Gen. Omar Bradley prepared a speech outlining the possible use of Chiang's troops in Korea, the State Department asked him to eliminate the reference — at Chiang's request. Chiang has become so jittery, the State Department said, he doesn't want any public discussion of his troops for fear it would invite attack.

Background Fact No. 4—The President badly needed the peace move in Korea. Ten weeks ago the Joint Chiefs of Staff proposed four alternative moves in Korea and he hasn't been able to make a decision. . . . With Truman the military men were more concrete. But with Eisenhower, who has spent all his life in the Army and made a special trip to Korea, the Joint Chiefs are letting him make the decisions. However, the decision isn't any easier than it was last fall, and Ike's political promises are beginning to be remembered. That's why Stalin's death and Malenkov's olive branches may be the luckiest break Ike ever got.

Cost-Of-Eating

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK CITY—The taking off of price controls has caused some prices to advance; but most prices have remained constant or have decreased. I am convinced that free competition, which now is being tried, will ultimately reduce the cost of foods.

Be Patient

There will be a lag between the wholesale price drop and the retail prices. In Florida I own a cattle ranch. Steers which sold on the hoof at 30 cents a pound two years ago now sell for 10 cents. Cows which then sold at $200 can be bought for $60.

Readers wonder why the retail price of beef is still high. The answer is that the beef now in the stores for sale was purchased by the packers at high prices. We must wait until this high-priced beef is eaten before the retail price will drop further. This may take four to six months. The same principle applies to many foods.

Deep freezers are good for the home and good for the nation as a whole. These, however, should be filled intelligently. To get the most from buying in quantity, the family should give real study to seasons, crop reports, and other factors. The first verse of the third chapter of the Bible Book of Ecclesiastes gives good advice to those who buy food for storing.

We should buy in quantity when beef, fruit, vegetables, etc. are cheap; but we should also consider quality as well as price. It is wise perhaps to buy some meats now; but wait before storing beef.

Political Aspects

While such lower food prices please city dwellers, falling prices cause much grief to millions of rural families. Cattlemen are now taking big losses. City folks laugh about the dairy mess and similar mistakes, but they all have a sad human side of grief, loss and disappointment. Let us be sympathetic with all unfortunate rural people.

President Eisenhower is getting thousands of letters every day from honest, hard-working farmers who are being "ruined." This probably accounts for his urging Secretary Benson to "go slowly." Otherwise, he may fear that the Republicans will lose control of Congress in 1954. Customs which have existed for 20 years cannot be corrected quickly. The same principle involves tariff changes.

Radio Market News
Radio news of wholesale farm prices is good for the farmers, fruit growers and others; but such news does not help the housewife much. Hence, newspapers could help consumers to interpret properly the valuable food advertisements in their papers by reporting weekly the amount of fresh, canned and frozen food products on the market.

Every housewife should carefully read all advertisements, especially the ads of the reliable super-markets. How to study local advertisements is a work which women's clubs could take up.

Farmers Need Self-Control

Don't blame salesmen of fertilizers, seeds, farm machinery and real estate for urging farmers to produce more. Yet, the fact that some farmers have not the good sense and self-control to properly weigh such sales talks is one reason for their troubles today. It might be a good idea this year to devote the state agricultural fairs to teaching farmers some simple economic truths.

Neither farmers nor consumers can depend upon most politicians for honest advice. This applies especially to the promoters of certain unneeded irrigation projects. Farmers could get into the same box in 1954 that Wall Street speculators got into in 1929, because every farmer is forced to speculate on weather and other unpredictable factors. Another thought: Buy things from your local stores and, if possible, buy home-made products. If farm organizations would teach sane economics, there need be no more "butter scandals" and the entire dairy industry would ultimately benefit.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

Malenkov And The H-Bomb

WASHINGTON

"Malenkov knows that he can't win a war with the United States now. He could hurt us, but we'd clobber him, and in the end we'd win, and that would be the end of him. But he also knows that in a few years he'll have what it takes to knock us out. So he wants to be sure that there's no big war in the meantime."

This is the simple explanation of the current Soviet switch in tactics which has been offered by one astute official. It may be right or it may be wrong. But it at least serves to emphasize a point which badly needs emphasizing. A Korean truce, however desirable in itself, will not end the growing threat to the survival of the United States.

The nature of this threat was summed up in the final report by the experts recruited for Project Lincoln. These experts solemnly warned that the Soviets, in two years' time or a little more, will have atomic capabilities sufficient to cripple this country. This is one reason why Andrei Y. Vishinsky's surprise move last Wednesday, when he called for renewed discussions of disarmament and atomic energy control, has been received in some quarters with almost as much interest as the Korean truce move itself.

May Talk Seriously

For the first time, Vishinsky failed to call for immediate "prohibition" of atomic weapons, and an immediate one-third reduction in great power armaments. These two demands, repeated tirelessly by Vishinsky for years, amounted to a request to the Western powers to sign their own death warrants. Their sudden omission may have no significance at all, although Soviet spokesmen in the United Nations took pains to put it about that this was a portentous new departure. At any rate, the Vishinsky move does at least suggest that the new Soviet regime might just conceivably, for the first time, be in a mood to talk seriously about atomic energy control.

For its part, the American government has been in process of carefully re-thinking American atomic policy. The re-thinking has been done by a distinguished five-man panel, headed by the great physicist, Dr. Robert Oppenheimer. Other members of the panel were Dr. Vannevar Bush and Dr. Joseph E. Johnston, both of the Carnegie Institute, Dr. John S. Dickey, of Dartmouth College, and Allen Dulles, of the Central Intelligence Agency.

These five men worked together on the problem of atomic control and the new weapons from April 1952, until just before the inauguration, when they handed in their final report to the White House and the State Department. The report is highly secret, and its conclusions are not known. But it is known that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles read the report carefully, and passed it on with detailed comments to President Eisenhower.

It is also known why the five-man group was recruited in the first place. As early as January 1950, when President Truman announced his intention to go ahead with work on the hydrogen bomb, physicists and others who knew what this decision really entailed, were already urging a "new, new look" at the problem of controlling the terrible new forces.

Dismayed By Force

For a long time, the old tendency to shove the whole unpleasant problem under the rug prevailed. But by the spring of 1952, it became known that the test of the world's first true hydrogen bomb was imminent, and the problem could not be kept under the rug. Therefore, the five-man Oppenheimer board was recruited, and asked to consider anew this country's policy on the new weapon.

The first hydrogen explosion, last November, lent special urgency to this task. Even the technicians were dismayed by the destructive force of the new device, and also by certain other special characteristics. This all-too-successful test, in fact, altered the nature of the world situation, for it opened up the possibility of total devastation of an entire nation. Indeed, for reasons already explained in this space, it opened up the distant possibility of the destruction of the human race.

In short, the problem which the Oppenheimer group considered, is to put it mildly, a serious one. But it is serious for the Soviets as well as for the United States. The Soviets will test their own hydrogen bomb one day—within two years is the best intelligence guess. But the United States will, presumably, at least make certain that if there is to be total devastation in a new war, the destruction will be mutual.

It was originally intended to put forward a new American proposal for controlling both atomic and hydrogen weapons at the time of the first hydrogen test last November. This was not done perhaps simply because the Oppenheimer panel found the problem so hideously difficult. One apparently insurmountable difficulty is that there can be no real control of the new weapons without untrammelled international inspection. Most Russian experts believe that no Soviet regime can accept free inspection, because of the very nature of the closed Soviet system. But if a Korean truce is in fact negotiated, the time may be ripe to discover if the Malenkov regime is capable of serious discussion about the new weapons, so that we shall at least know where we stand.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

When The Shoe Squeezes

I can find no record that Dr. George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College, complained when the Pujos, LaFollette, Pecora, Black or other committees of Congress investigated American businesses. The Nye Committee was run by Alger Hiss. The LaFollette Committee was infiltrated by Communists as the senator admitted in a magazine article. The Black Committee invaded the privacy of citizens.

But President Shuster did wax indignant over investigating the conduct of teachers and professors in schools and colleges. It is a question of whose foot the shoe squeezes.

Dr. Shuster is apparently class-conscious, as are so many college presidents and professors. Yet the fact is that Dr. Bella Dodd, who was a Communist and had organized the teachers of New York, had been a teacher at Hunter College; and there are others there, as Dr. Shuster must know.

I mention this only because of the loud protests from the schools whenever anyone takes a look at what is going on in them and what teachers are doing to the minds of our children.

I heard a teacher say in the presence of 16-year-old boys that a true Christian must be an alien in every national state. What he really meant was that a "True Christian" owes his first allegiance to God and that that transcends loyalty to the country, the family and everything else. This might be called a universalist point of view, the One World concept of life which, while it is unrealistic in our day, may have the virtue of abstract idealism.

A man's opinions are his own in our free society and there should be no impairment of the right of an individual to advocate a cause. Nevertheless, our children are our own and we do not send them to school to be corrupted and perverted by teachers. When resentment to nationalism is taught with all

am not going to jerk the rug out from under the farmers."

In the end, Ike urged the grain terminal chief to "put your statements on paper and send it to me, and I'll send it over to (Secretary of Agriculture) Benson."

NOTE—Afterward, Thatcher told other farm leaders that if Eisenhower carries out his farm ideas, "you may as well go over and congratulate Sam Rayburn on being the next speaker." He meant that the Democrats would win control of Congress in 1954.

the authority that a teacher has over a child, to boys of 16 who live in the shadow of the draft, the impressionable mind may go farther than the teacher intends — and lives can be wrecked, the lives of your children and mine. A teacher who imposes untested private views on boys and girls in puberty assumes a function for which he is not hired.

Christianity does not benefit by this kind of propaganda. In these days, the only beneficiary can be our current enemy, Soviet Russia, whose desire is to destroy the will of our people to resist. Whenever Soviet Russia conquers a country, Christianity in all its forms is persecuted in that country.

I do not say, because it would be untrue, that those who advocate One World and dramatize their ideal by lessening the faith of Americans in their own country are Communists. Some of them are violently anti Communist. But they are confused people who confuse our children. They advocate the impossible but clothe their assumptions in lofty language.

What responsibilities will they assume for boys who try to escape the draft and are jailed for it? Will they sit out the jail sentences for these boys or will they make speeches on the evils of a government killing its own sons by futile wars?

What responsibilities will they assume if our will to resist the enemy is so weakened that we fall from within as Czechoslovakia and Hungary fell because the will to resist was insufficient? Will they then say to Stalin's commissars that they believe in One World but not the Kremlin's One World? When a teacher rejects love of country, he ought, in decency, no longer teach children of parents who do believe that national existence is essential for the survival of our country. To do less is to trick and fool the parents. It is a betrayal of a trust.

What would parents do about teachers who advocate free love or the virtues of prostitution to boys and girls in the impressionable years of puberty? There would be a terrific howl, the first moment the parents knew of it. And that should be the response of parents when teachers, for any reason whatsoever, impress upon young minds the virtues of betrayal and treason.

Let no one make a mistake: this is now happening in the United States and everything that is done to bring it into the open is justified and correct.

BRAVES APPEAR IMPROVED OVER LAST SEASON, NO FLAG LOOMS IN MILWAUKEE'S NEAR FUTURE

Editor's Note: This is another in a series on the major leagues. Others will follow on this page daily.

BY WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer

BRADENTON, Fla.—Jolly Cholly Grimm is just that this spring. The old veteran, who took over the floundering Boston Braves in their most disappointing season last year, starts his first full season at the helm of the Milwaukee entry with prospects much brighter.

Two trades, in which the Braves got outfielder Andy Pafko from the Dodgers and first sacker Joe Adcock from the Reds, make up part of the rainbow hue. Another which adds to the brighter color scheme is the better defense in the infield and the presence of several young pitchers who may help the club.

The Milwaukee club, of course, is not a first division contender, but is progressing with a plan started last year to rebuild with young players from the farm system.

"I think our ball club will be much better," Charlie told us in camp here. "Pafko and Adcock will help us a lot and now we have a chance to make some runs. We were very bad offensively last year."

"At this stage I'd say our big problem is second base. If Jack Dittmer, who has looked good in the field, can hit, we'll be okay. He has hit well everywhere but here. But his batting was much improved the last month of the season."

DITTMER is the former University of Iowa star who was recalled from Milwaukee last year and, with Johnny Logan at shortstop, formed one of the finer keystone units afield in the National League. He batted only .193 with the Braves in 93 games last season.

Adcock hit .278 for the Reds last year and while originally a first sacker he was shifted to the outfield by the Reds. However, here he will be a first sacker.

Completing the infield is the rising young star, Ed Mathews, who hit .25 home runs for the Braves, his first season after coming up from Atlanta and Milwaukee. This 185-pound slugger surpassed Ralph Kiner's rookie year record and he hits 'em for amazing distances.

Adding to the fine catching staff is the return from the service of Del Crandall, who has been away from the club for two years. Del will be No. 1 with Walker Cooper, Ebba St. Claire and Paul Burris on deck. Two newcomers are also available here, Jack Parks, from Milwaukee, and Jim Solt, who hit .310 for Atlanta.

THE OUTFIELD will be strong with Sid Gordon in one field and Pafko in another. The third spot, center field, is one of the key competitive spots on the club with three contenders, Sam Jethroe, a holdover from last year; Bill Bruton, a .325 hitter with Milwaukee who is rated the top rookie in camp, and Jim Pendleton, who came to the Braves in the Adcock deal. Pendleton hit .291 for Montreal last year. He also can play shortstop.

Gordon smacked 25 homers last year and Jethroe is the speed merchant. Bruton appears to have the inside chance to make the club in center.

Other outfielders seeking to stick are Bob Thorpe, who has been injured and sent back to Milwaukee, and Tom Whisenand, up from Milwaukee. Thorpe got in 80 games with the Braves last year.

Luis Marquies, who hit .345 for Milwaukee, has not signed a contract as yet.

Of the pitchers Grimm says: "With Warren Spahn, Max Sur-kont, Jim Wilson and Vern Bickford I can have four starters. And then I've got Johnny Antonelli and he's looked good. Also Don Liddle."

Spahn, the ace lefty, won 14 and lost 19 in 1952, one of his worst seasons. Surkont turned in 12 wins as did Wilson.

Bickford also had one of his poorer years, being able to win but seven games against 12 losses. Bickford is a holdout as this is written but he is expected to sign soon.

Antonelli, the Rochester youth who was signed for an enormous bonus back in 1941 and then did little pitching for the Braves before he went into the service in 1951, is back with a glorious future ahead. While in the service the left-hander won 42 and lost two.

Dave Cole, a big righthander who was on the roster last year, has a world of stuff and he is expected to help. He has gained the control he needed.

Bob Buhl, a Saginaw, Mich. youth who is out of the service, also is being talked about. Grimm had this fellow at Dallas in 1950 and in an appearance against the Cards here he looked very good.

Dick Donovan, another right-hander, must be kept or sold. He did little last year and wound up at Milwaukee.

Donald Liddle, who won 17 at Milwaukee, is also being figured in Grimm's pitching plans. Ernie Johnson, who came up last year and won six for the Braves, is still another pitcher who might figure.

Relief pitchers will be taken care of by Virgil Jester, who won 10 for Milwaukee; Lew Burdette, who did a fine job for the Braves last

Cadet Ike Eisenhower Played Greatest Game Against Thorpe

Scored Army's Lone TD As Carlisle Won, 27-6

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 5 (AP)—Cadet Ike Eisenhower played the greatest football game of his career against the great Jim Thorpe, scoring the only Army touchdown.

But Thorpe's Carlisle squad still won 27-6.

That's the story told today by Gen. Bob Neyland, Tennessee athletic director, who recalled it after Thorpe's recent death.

Bob Wilson, Knoxville News-Sentinel sports editor, quoted Neyland's account of the game in his column:

"The first time I saw Thorpe was in 1912. He came to West Point that year with the Carlisle football team to play Army. It was my first year on the Army football squad and I wasn't going to play, so I focused my attention on Thorpe."

STAG LINES for men by Bert Bacharach

Informal Wear: Gable Is Casual, Blouet Sedate

A Report From Paris

PARIS.

On my flying trip over here, I've had a good chance to compare American and European male attire. The results are quite striking. Americans are generally more casual by a long shot. At the same informal function, for example, the U. S. S. Clark Gable (see photo above) wore sports-wear, while France's Max Blouet, head of the Hotel George V, wore a conventional suit. Both were well dressed; the Continental was just more sedate.

People: Maurice Chevalier has a deal with his menswear shop. When he picks a tie, he agrees not to sell the same pattern to anyone else for three months! . . . Golfer Jackie Coles invariably wears a red crocus as a boutonniere. . . . Entire orchestra at Elephant Blanc wanted to know whether I could get them "Tony Martin" tuxedos from the U. S.

Interesting Places: The huge cheese store with a restaurant upstairs—where only dishes like cheese soups, fondues, etc., are served. . . . Paris button shop, where one can get magnificent buttons, quite reasonably, for cuff links or earrings! . . . Maurice Chalmers' antique shop, with its demonstration of how to decorate a barn interior! . . . (No space for addresses. I'll send them on request.)

Recommended: Shrimp-on-a-spit at Costi's Restaurant. . . . Steak Poivre at Berkeley. . . . Fish souffle at Tour d'Argent. . . . Lobster Bisque at the Mediterraene. . . . Any kind of sandwich on those delicious French bread rolls.

Fluid Situation: Whiskies are very expensive here. Best substitute for a highball is Fine l'Eau (brandy and water). . . . A "Bloody Mary" (tomato juice and vodka) is food, drink and also a good pick-up. . . . Most popular cocktail seems to be a martini-on-the-rocks.

Shirt Savers: Here's a way to pack shirts on your trip that will save space and the collars. Take the shirt as it comes from the laundry (1. at right) and open it to full length (2). Then fold it the other way, bringing the tail up over the collar, and tuck it underneath (3). . . . If you plan to wash your shirt yourself, bring along a lightweight plastic hanger. Many European coat hangers will shed paint onto your wet shirts.

Odd Items: Heard at a sidewalk cafe—"A votre sante, as we say in Bridgeport after the third Martini!" . . . When in Europe, it might be a good idea to hide your American soap. It seems to have a lot of appeal.

BRAVES APPEAR IMPROVED OVER LAST SEASON, NO FLAG LOOMS IN MILWAUKEES' NEAR FUTURE

Editor's Note: This is another in a series on the major leagues. Others will follow on this page daily.

BY WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer

BRADENTON, Fla.—Jolly Cholly Grimm is just that this spring.

The old veteran, who took over the floundering Boston Braves in the disappointing season last year, starts his first full season at the helm of the Milwaukee entry with prospects much brighter.

Two trades, in which the Braves got outfielder Andy Pafko from the Dodgers and first sacker Joe Adcock from the Reds, make up part of the rainbow hue. Another which adds to the brighter color scheme is the better defense in the infield and the presence of several young pitchers who may help the club.

The Milwaukee club, of course, is not a first division contender, but is progressing with a plan started last year to rebuild with young players from the farm system.

"I think our ball club will be much better," Charlie told us in camp here. "Pafko and Adcock will help us a lot and now we have a chance to make some runs. We were very bad offensively last year."

"At this stage I'd say our big problem is second base. If Jack Dittmer, who has looked good in the field, can hit, we'll be okay. He has hit well everywhere but here. But his batting was much improved the last month of the season."

DITTMER is the former University of Iowa star who was recalled from Milwaukee last year and, with Johnny Logan at shortstop, formed one of the finer keystone units allied in the National League. He batted only .193 with the Braves in 93 games last season.

Adcock hit .278 for the Reds last year and while originally a first sacker he was shifted to the outfield by the Reds. However, here he will be a first sacker.

Completing the infield is the rising young star, Ed Mathews, who hit 25 home runs for the Braves, his first season after coming up from Atlanta and Milwaukee. This 185-pound slugger surpassed Ralph Kiner's rookie year record and he adds 'em for amazing distances.

Hitting to the fine catching staff is the return from the service of Del Crandall, who has been away from the club for two years. Del will be No. 1 with Walker Cooper, Ebba St. Claire and Paul Burris on deck. Two newcomers are also available here, Jack Parks, from Milwaukee, and Jim Solt, who hit .310 for Atlanta.

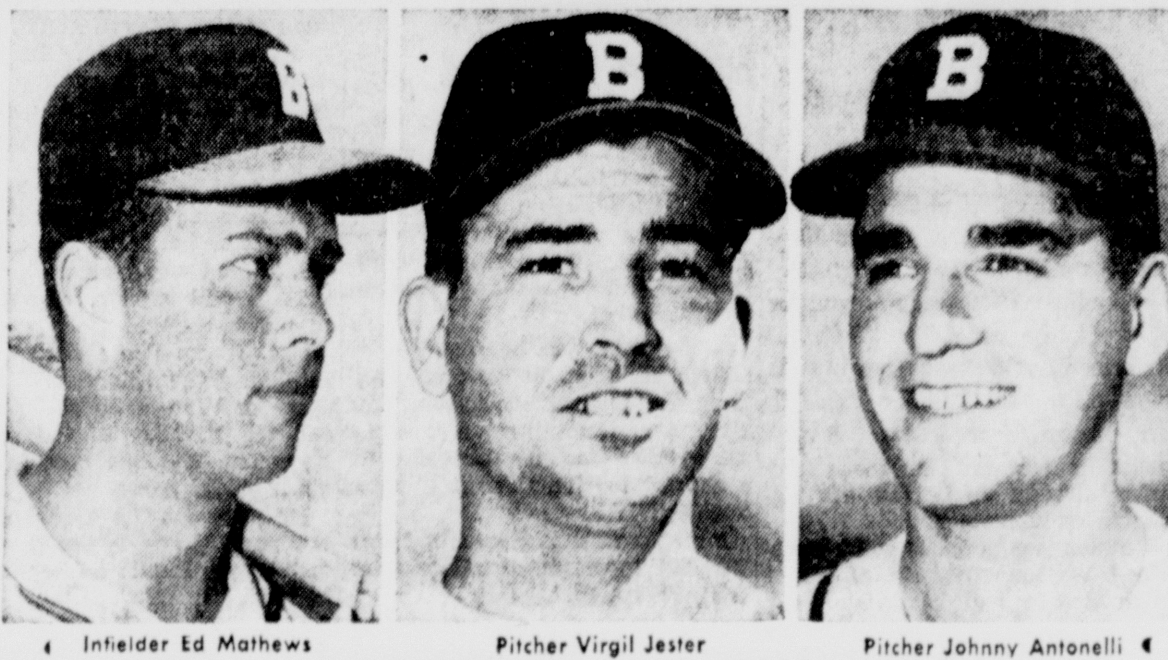

THE OUTFIELD will be strong with Sid Gordon in one field and Pafko in another. The third spot, center field, is one of the key competitive spots on the club with three contenders, Sam Jethroe, a holdover from last year; Bill Bruton, a .325 hitter with Milwaukee who is rated the top rookie in camp, and Jim Pendleton, who came to the Braves in the Adcock deal. Pendleton hit .291 for Montreal last year. He also can play shortstop.

Gordon smacked 25 homers last year and Jethroe is the speed merchant. Bruton appears to have the inside chance to make the club in center.

Other outfielders seeking to stick are Bob Thorpe, who has been injured and sent back to Milwaukee, and Tom Whisenant, up from Milwaukee. Thorpe got in 80 games with the Braves last year.

Luis Marquez, who hit .345 for Milwaukee, has not signed a contract as yet.

Of the pitchers Grimm says: "With Warren Spahn, Max Sur-

Infielder Ed Mathews Pitcher Virgil Jester Pitcher Johnny Antonelli

kent, Jim Wilson and Vern Bickford I can have four starters. And then I've got Johnny Antonelli and he's looked good. Also Don Liddle."

Spahn, the ace lefty, won 14 and lost 19 in 1952, one of his worst seasons. Surkont turned in 12 wins as did Wilson.

Bickford also had one of his poorer years, being able to win but seven games against 12 losses. Bickford is a holdout as this is written but he is expected to sign soon.

Antonelli, the Rochester youth who was signed for an enormous bonus back in 1947 and then did little pitching for the Braves before he went into the service in 1951, is back with a glorious future ahead. While in the service the left-hander won 42 and lost two.

Dave Cole, a big right-hander who was on the roster last year, has a world of stuff and he is expected to help. He has gained the control he needed.

Bob Buhl, a Saginaw, Mich., youth who is out of the service, also is being talked about. Grimm had this fellow at Dallas in 1950 and in an appearance against the Cards here he looked very good.

Dick Donovan, another right-hander, must be kept or sold. He did little last year and wound up at Milwaukee.

Donald Liddle, who won 17 at Milwaukee, is also being figured in Grimm's pitching plans. Ernie Johnson, who came up last year and won six for the Braves, is still another pitcher who might figure.

Relief chores will be taken care of by Virgil Jester, who won 10 for Milwaukee; Lew Burdette, who did a fine job for the Braves last year, and Dave Jolly, a right-hander from Kansas City.

Gene Conley, who stands 6-foot-8 tall and is rated the tallest guy in the majors, comes up from Milwaukee with a lot of promise but he hasn't looked too good in camp. He's also a pro basketball player and was second to teammate Liddle at Milwaukee in the number of strikeouts.

George Crowe, the big fellow who started the season with the Braves and then played first base for Milwaukee where he hit .351, is also here and he is to be used in pinch-hitting roles.

THE BRAVES IN BRIEF — The Braves are definitely improved with the return of the servicemen, Del Crandall and Johnny Antonelli, and the trades which brought Andy Pafko and Joe Adcock to the club. They are still a second division ball club, though.

Bob Buhl, a Saginaw, Mich., youth who is out of the service, also is being talked about. Grimm had this fellow at Dallas in 1950 and in an appearance against the Cards here he looked very good.

Dick Donovan, another right-hander, must be kept or sold. He did little last year and wound up at Milwaukee.

Bob Buhl, a Saginaw, Mich., youth who is out of the service, also is being talked about. Grimm had this fellow at Dallas in 1950 and in an appearance against the Cards here he looked very good.

Dick Donovan, another right-hander, must be kept or sold. He did little last year and wound up at Milwaukee.

Donald Liddle, who won 17 at Milwaukee, is also being figured in Grimm's pitching plans. Ernie Johnson, who came up last year and won six for the Braves, is still another pitcher who might figure.

Relief chores will be taken care of by Virgil Jester, who won 10 for Milwaukee; Lew Burdette, who did a fine job for the Braves last year, and Dave Jolly, a right-hander from Kansas City.

Gene Conley, who stands 6-foot-8 tall and is rated the tallest guy in the majors, comes up from Milwaukee with a lot of promise but he hasn't looked too good in camp. He's also a pro basketball player and was second to teammate Liddle at Milwaukee in the number of strikeouts.

George Crowe, the big fellow who started the season with the Braves and then played first base for Milwaukee where he hit .351, is also here and he is to be used in pinch-hitting roles.

THE BRAVES IN BRIEF — The Braves are definitely improved with the return of the servicemen, Del Crandall and Johnny Antonelli, and the trades which brought Andy Pafko and Joe Adcock to the club. They are still a second division ball club, though.

Bob Buhl, a Saginaw, Mich., youth who is out of the service, also is being talked about. Grimm had this fellow at Dallas in 1950 and in an appearance against the Cards here he looked very good.

Dick Donovan, another right-hander, must be kept or sold. He did little last year and wound up at Milwaukee.

Cadet Ike Eisenhower Played Greatest Game Against Thorpe

Scored Army's Lone TD As Carlisle Won, 27-6

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 5 (AP)—Cadet Ike Eisenhower played the greatest football game of his career against the great Jim Thorpe, scoring the only Army touchdown.

But Thorpe's Carlisle squad still won 27-6.

That's the story told today by Gen. Bob Neyland, Tennessee athletic director, who recalled it after Thorpe's recent death.

Bob Wilson, Knoxville News-Sentinel sports editor, quoted Neyland's account of the game in his column.

"The first time I saw Thorpe was in 1912. He came to West Point that year with the Carlisle football team to play Army. It was my first year on the Army football squad and I wasn't going to play, so I focused my attention on Thorpe."

"Eisenhower, a short time later, again started bucking through the Carlisle line and almost went for another touchdown. He was stopped about the five-yard line."

"Thorpe dropped back into the end zone and punted out. The ball sailed 20 yards over our safety man's head, hit the ground and bounced straight up. This gave our safety man time to run back and recover the ball. He returned it to midfield."

Thorpe ran 80, 90 Yards

"Later in the game, Army punted to Thorpe and he ran 80 yards through our team for a touchdown. The play was called back and Carlisle was penalized for being offside. We kicked again and this time Thorpe ran through our team for 90 yards and a touch-down."

"I thought President Eisenhower played the greatest game of his career against Carlisle. He was really terrific in bucking through their powerful line. But Thorpe and his mates beat us, 27 to 6."

Rutherford Optioned To Mobile By Dodgers

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 5 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced the release of Pitcher John Rutherford to Mobile of the Southern Association on option.

Rutherford, who won seven and lost seven for Brooklyn last year, recently returned from Detroit where he was undergoing treatment for a torn ligament in his right shoulder.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 5 (AP)—Gil Coan of the Washington Nationals slammed into the leftfield fence trying for a circus catch this afternoon and had to be carried off the playing field.

Coan's injury came in the fifth inning in an exhibition game here with the Cincinnati Reds. The Reds won, 6 to 2.

Pioneers Host Yellow Jackets In First Game

Ten Schools Will Vie In Loop; Kent State At Potomac Friday

The scholastic baseball season in the tri-state area is scheduled to get under way Tuesday at Romney where Coach Richard "Dick" McElwee's Romney High Pioneers cross bats with Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Yellow Jackets in the Potomac Valley Conference lid-lifter at 2 p. m.

McElwee, former West Virginia University athlete, launches his ninth season as baseball mentor at Romney, having revived the sport in 1945, one year after he took over the coaching reins there.

To play 12 Games
Tomorrow's contest will be the first of 12 for the Pioneers in the 10-team conference.

Joe Ely, one of the six lettermen on the Romney squad, is slated to work on the firing line in the inaugural tilt with Ray "Lefty" Hartman held in reserve. Roger Parker will do the receiving. Ed Hartman, who posted a 5-1 record in the P.V.C. last season, will start at third base for Romney.

Randall Raines or Bobby Wilson will start on the mound for Moorefield in the opener with Ronnie Thomas back of the plate. Raines and Wilson were regulars last season. So were Lyle Weatherholtz, outfielder, and Allen Bean, second sacker. Raines is a shortstop-pitcher while Wilson pitches and plays third base. Gordon Raines, a 5-1 winner in the P.V.C. last season, is overage and is ineligible to play.

Jackets List 10 Tilt
Moorefield will play 10 P.V.C. contests this season. The Jackets defeated Romney twice during the conference campaign last season, 5-1 and 8-7, but lost out to Romney in the regional tourney, 6-5.

Other schools in the 10-team conference are Franklin, the 1952 champion, with a 7-1 record; West Virginia School for the Deaf, Wardensville, Petersburg, Keyser, Fort Ashby, Circleville and Capon Bridge.

Southern High of Oakland opens its baseball season Wednesday, meeting Terra Alta at Oakland. A return game is set for Friday at the Preston county team's field.

State Will Play Kent
Defeated twice last week by Mount Union, Ohio, College. Potomac State will play host to Kent State of Ohio, Friday and Saturday in Keyser.

In a game staged Saturday, Frostburg State Teachers College dropped a 14-6 decision to Mount Union, Ohio College at Frostburg. It was the fourth straight victory for the touring Ohioans who opened with a 15-4 win over Bridge-water, Va., College. Saturday's game was the opener for the Bob-cats.

As You WERE

Twenty-nine years ago this young lady was very much in the basketball spotlight.

On January 30, 1924, she scored 95 points on 46 field goals and three fouls as Beall High School rolled to an 111-5 victory over Ursuline Academy.

This was a girls' scoring record until February 25 of the same year when Marie Boyd of Central amassed the amazing total of 156 points as the "Coney sextet" swamped Ursuline, 162 to 3.

The same month the bobbed-hair young lady pictured here banged in 27 points (11 field goals and 5-10 fouls) as Beall cracked the three-year winning streak of Central after the Orange and Black had won 65 consecutive games.

A tie for first place at the end of the regular season necessitated a playoff for the W.M.I. League championship which Beall won by beating Central at the N. & G. Taylor gym here by the score of 36-18. In that important game this star collected 18 points.

Other members of that Beall team were Elizabeth Davis, Helene Shuck, Gladys Crowe, Alice Wright, Leola Cooper and Annie Duncan.

This girl's brother, Jonathan, was an outstanding tennis soloist. Do you know her name?

Her name is Mary Elizabeth Davis, who started at Beall and then went to Central and then to the University of Maryland. She was a star in the 1920's and 1930's.

Boston Upsets Detroit Wings

Bruins Go To Finals In Stanley Cup Play

BOSTON, April 5 (INS)—The Boston Bruins pulled the upset of the hockey season when they defeated the Detroit Red Wings 4 to 2 tonight before 13,909 at Boston Garden and eliminated the Red Wings in their semi-final series for the Stanley Cup.

Boston scored once in the first and second periods and twice in the third period to beat Detroit, who won the Stanley Cup last season.

Detroit scored once in the second and third periods.

The Bruins will meet the winner of the Montreal-Chicago series in the finals.

The Montreal Canadiens drew all-even at 3-all with the Chicago Blackhawks by winning Saturday night, 3-0. The deciding game will be played Tuesday at Montreal.

Fort Hill Trackmen Beat Beall, 102-24

Fort Hill High School's track and field team, undefeated last year in seven meets, got off to a flying start Saturday by crushing Beall High at Frostburg, 102-24.

Coach William P. "Bill" Hahn's track stars swept nine first places and notched their 14th straight triumph over three seasons.

Bill Allen won the 100 yards dash in 11.5 seconds and the 220 in 26 seconds; Bill Steppa also capped two firsts, the 440 in 57.2 seconds and the shot put with a heave of 45 feet, 3 inches.

Fort Hill hosts Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs at the local stadium Saturday.

Tigers Triumph, 13-8

TAMPA Fla., April 5 (AP)—Right-hander Ned Garver went all the way today to pitch the Detroit Tigers to 13 to 8 exhibition victory over the Cincinnati Reds' "B" team.

Garver gave up 12 hits to the National League club's second stringers. But he was backed by an 18-hit attack, including three home runs.

Managers Sought For Frostburg Hot Stove Loop

Third Appeal Made, Meeting Is Tonight

FROSTBURG, April 5 — Frostburg may be forced to abandon plans for the operation of a Hot Stove Baseball League this year if an appeal for managers and assistant managers goes unanswered at a meeting to be held Monday at 8 p. m. at Frostburg City Hall.

Two meetings already have been held but little interest was shown.

Tomorrow's meeting has been called by Guy Mallow, who was recently nominated for president. If the league is to be continued officers will be elected at the Monday session. Dan Wilson headed the circuit last season.

The league was composed of four teams last season, namely, Braves, Cardinals, Tigers and Cubs and the Braves won the championship. One hundred and fifty boys played with the teams in 1952.

Mallow announces that the league's equipment is valued at $800 and there are enough uniforms available to outfit four teams and approximately 50 players.

"We can't operate, however, if we are unable to acquire responsible persons to manage the teams," he added.

Mr. Lieb, author of "The Story of the World Series," "The St. Louis Cardinals" and other books writes.

"Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics paid $100,000 to Baltimore for Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove, a minor league pitcher of five years' experience. As a matter of fact, Jack Dunn had kept Lefty in Baltimore several seasons after he was ripe for big league pitching.

"After two years to get acclimated, Grove won 20 or more games for seven consecutive seasons, as the Athletics won three pennants in a row. Mack then sold Moses to the wealthy Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox for $100,000 in 1934 and Lefty pitched eight effective years for the Red Sox before retiring.

"Neither the A's nor the Red Sox ever complained about the price they paid for Lefty Grove."

Lieb points out the minors are full of players who advanced to the majors with some scout or manager assuring, "this fellow can't miss, and promptly fell on their faces.

GEORGE HOTT, former Moorefield basketball and baseball star, played first base for New Orleans against the Pirates in yesterday's exhibition game, and obtained a hit in his first time at bat against Pollet. The Bucs defeated the Pelicans, 5-1.

MANAGER BILL SEE reports that the McCoolle Vets will field a team in the Bi-State Baseball League this year but the post will be unable to give the club financial support.

Cooperation of Keyser and McCoolle fans will be necessary to keep the club going.

See says that besides himself, only two other players had indicated definitely they would be back in action this year. They are Earl Hess and Dick Rotruck.

Letters were sent to out-of-town players who performed with the Vets last year, explaining the financial situation and that only travel expenses could be guaranteed but none have yet replied.

Those who received the letters were Carl Wilfong, Jack Hines, Bill Martz and Mat Kuhn.

BRUCE MAY, Hyndman High School's high point scorer during the past season, was named on the third Little All-Pennsylvania scholastic team in the fourth annual Associated Press poll.

Only players from Keystone State high schools with enrollments under 500 pupils and playing on Class B or C teams were eligible.

Seventy-five coaches, sports writers and sportscasters voted.

THE DEATH OF Alvin "Dabby" Logsdon last week brought back memories of 30 years ago when we scored games for the Barton Braves in the days Arthur P. Hoffa and Bob Smith headed several topnotch clubs in the up-creek town.

Smith discovered Logsdon as a left-handed catcher in a kids' game at Barton and converted him into an outfielder for the Braves. He was only 16.

Grove Was Worth It May Makes Third Team Vets Ask For Support Elmer Carter Writes By C. V. BURNS

CONNIE MACK and Tom Yawkey paid fancy prices to obtain Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove for the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox but they were well rewarded by the Lonaconing south-paw.

This is the opinion expressed by Fred Lieb, veteran New York baseball writer, in a booklet entitled "Can You Buy a Baseball Star?" published by the Packard Motor Car Company.

Mr. Lieb, author of "The Story of the World Series," "The St. Louis Cardinals" and other books writes.

"Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics paid $100,000 to Baltimore for Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove, a minor league pitcher of five years' experience. As a matter of fact, Jack Dunn had kept Lefty in Baltimore several seasons after he was ripe for big league pitching.

Those who received the letters were Carl Wilfong, Jack Hines, Bill Martz and Mat Kuhn.

BRUCE MAY, Hyndman High School's high point scorer during the past season, was named on the third Little All-Pennsylvania scholastic team in the fourth annual Associated Press poll.

Only players from Keystone State high schools with enrollments under 500 pupils and playing on Class B or C teams were eligible.

Seventy-five coaches, sports writers and sportscasters voted.

THE DEATH OF Alvin "Dabby" Logsdon last week brought back memories of 30 years ago when we scored games for the Barton Braves in the days Arthur P. Hoffa and Bob Smith headed several topnotch clubs in the up-creek town.

Smith discovered Logsdon as a left-handed catcher in a kids' game at Barton and converted him into an outfielder for the Braves. He was only 16.

A chubby, apple-cheeked youngster, this left-handed hitter and thrower played left and centerfield for the Braves in an outfield that included Lucien Davis, John "Chip" Grindle and Tommy McGuire.

Other members of those Barton teams were Andy Tennant, Johnny Foutz, Charley Dye, "Hank" Gruber, George "Brindle" Long, Marty Flynn, Art Slocum, Leo McNeill, Frank Muster, "Shug" Doyle, Clarence Beaman, Clem Montgomery, Stewart Whisner and Wilbur "Bub" Wells.

"Dabby" once served as lather boy in Smith's barber shop and for many years operated a pool room in Barton. He died at the age of 50 following a lingering illness.

ELMER J. CARTER, former Cumberland attorney now in New York City, writes:

"Although I have not lived in Cumberland for over 17 years, I have continued to take either the Times or the News, since many of my friends live there.

"I read with interest your recent article on Raymond McMillan, deceased, who lived most of his life in Eckhart. Ray and I were close friends and I usually saw him several days a week prior to the time both of us went into the service.

Mr. Carter encloses a picture he took of Ray about 1914 to note his wonderful physique and clean-cut appearance.

McMillan was fatally injured in a boxing match at Jersey City, N. J. in 1920. He fought under the name of "Mickey Shannon" and he was featured in No. 102 of the "As You Were" series on March 21.

THERE was only one undefeated scholastic basketball team in the tri-state area this year.

The honor goes to Franklin High School's girls of Pendleton county, W. Va., coached by John M. Dice.

Franklin Pantherettes posted an 8-0 record against West Virginia and Virginia sextets.

Jerry Barber Cops Azalea Open Tourney

Posts 4-Under-Par 68, Wins $2,000 With 276

By KEN ALYTA

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 5 (AP)—Little Jerry Barber, one of professional golf's "mighty mites," crashed through to his first major tournament victory today, coming in with a four under par 68 to win the $10,000 Azalea Open by one stroke with a 276 total.

Barber's rounds of 71-65-72-68 left him 12 under par for four rounds and earned him top money of $2,000.

Three Tied For Second

Tied for second at 277 were Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C.; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y.

Respectable Barber, a Woodson, Ill., native who registers from La Canada, Calif., is a 5-5, 140-pound veteran of many hard knocks along the golfing circuit. The father of four children, he is a golf glove salesman when not occupied on the links.

Tommy Bolt, of Maplewood, N. J., who was in first place or tied for the lead through the first three rounds, was caught at the nine-hole mark today and dropped down to an eighth-place tie after a one-over par 73.

Barber, who will be 37 years old April 25, entered the tournament the 18th money winner of the year with $2,635 in winnings.

Never Won Major Event

Although never a winner of a major event before, he often has been up there for a share of the money. Over the 1951 and 52 seasons he totaled more than $18,000 and was in the top 20 each season.

Barber's victory also clinched for him the last vacant position in the Augusta Masters Tournament opening Thursday. His finish today gave him a year's average of 71.25 against 71.29 for Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa.

Ford had a pair of 34s today, but a costly six on the third cost him a chance to tie. The three runners-up each won $1,066.66.

Sharing fifth place were Bob Winger, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., and Cary Middlecott, Memphis, each shooting 279 for $606.66.

Bolt dropped to an eighth place tie at 280 with Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., for $415 each.

Dodgers Beat Braves

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 5 (AP)—Young Dick Williams, playing first base with a heavily strapped leg injury, hit a two-run double in the sixth inning to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 3-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves today.

Williams, unable to play the outfield because he hasn't recovered from a shoulder separation suffered last August, drove the ball into the overflow crowd of 11,989 following a safe bunt by Jackie Robinson and error by John Logan on Carl Furillo.

The game was called at the end of the seventh inning and a second game was cancelled because of rain.

Herb Gorman, 28, San Diego Player, Collapses, Dies

Suffers Heart Attack In Coast League Game

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 5 (INS)—Outfielder Herb Gorman, 28, of the San Diego Padres, suffered a heart attack today during a baseball game with Hollywood and died before he could be gotten to a hospital.

Gorman was in his position in left field when he was stricken in the last half of the sixth inning.

In response to his cries for help, San Diego Shortstop Buddy Patterson rushed to his aid and helped him off the field.

Gorman was taken to a hospital in an ambulance but was pronounced dead on arrival. He hit successive doubles earlier on the two trips to the plate.

Gorman's wife was in the grandstand when her husband collapsed. When news of his death was received at the ball park the second game in a scheduled Hollywood — San Diego doubleheader was cancelled.

Colts Sign Embree, Canadian Griddler

BALTIMORE, April 5 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts, who lost their two top draft choices to the Canadian professional football circuit, executed a fast reverse and signed up Mel Embree, end from Winnipeg, to play this season with the National Football League team.

All-America halfback Billy Vessels from Oklahoma and Purdue End Bernie Flowers, top Colts draft picks, were grabbed by Canadian teams last month.

Embree, from Los Angeles' Pepperdine College, was a sensation in 1951 and scored five touchdowns in four games for Winnipeg last year. Terms of his contract were not disclosed.

Crackers Nip Yanks

ATLANTA, April 5 (AP)—The Atlanta Crackers nipped the New York Yankees in the ninth inning today, a hit batsman and two singles settling a 4-3 game in favor of the Southern Association club.

Johnny Schmitz, veteran left-hander, was the losing pitcher. Left Fowler, a right-hander, went the distance for the winners.

Whitey Ford, Yankee left-hander, went seven innings, allowed seven hits, walked four and made three wild pitches. Tom Gorman worked the eighth and Schmitz retired only one batter in the ninth before the winning rally developed.

Bud Pfeiffer singled Earl Wooten home with the winning run.

Turner Faces Joe Giardello In Top Fight

Philadelphia Scrap Is Set For Tuesday

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Boxing telefans will have to take Willie Troy and Randy Sandy this Friday night instead of Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott.

The two young Negro middleweights originally were scheduled to meet in a return bout on April 17 but their ten-rounder was moved up a week to fill in the radio-television hole left by the postponement of the heavyweight title fight.

Troy, of Washington, D. C., stopped Sandy, of New York, in the ninth round last September. Willie was unbeaten at the time. Since then he has suffered his first pro defeat, an eighth round TKO by Holly Mims in Washington a month ago. Sandy's only defeat in 11 pro fights was to Troy.

Their 10 p.m. (EST) bout will be broadcast by ABC and telecast by NBC. Troy is an 14 to 5 favorite.

Best Fight In Philly

The best fight of the week, however, won't be seen or heard via the networks. This is a ten round All-Philadelphia scrap Tuesday in the Quaker City between welterweight contender Gil Turner and Joe Giardello, the No. 6 middleweight. Turner is a 3 to 1 choice to beat the big man. Gil is expected to spot Giardello about four pounds, 149 to 153.

Ranking featherweights will be on display for TV fans on Monday and Wednesday.

Gene Smith of Washington, D.C., and Corky Gonzales of Denver collide in the top ten at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night. Their 10 p.m. (EST) scrap will be telecast by DuMont. Smith is an 11 to 5 choice to beat Corky again. He stopped him in three a year ago.

Percy Bassett, just back from a triumph tour of France where he won the "interim" featherweight title, meets Davey Gallardo of Los Angeles in Washington Wednesday. CBS will telecast the 10 p.m. (EST) ten rounder. Bassett is favored by 3 to 1.

Basilio Is Favorite

Welterweight Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn and Carmen Basilio of Syracuse clash in the feature ten rounder at Syracuse, N.Y., Saturday night. This coast to coast television bout will start at 9 p.m. (EST). Basilio is the favorite at 9 to 5.

Light heavyweight Chuck Speiser of Detroit, a member of the '32 Olympic boxing team, meets Billy Fiffeld of Toronto in an eight rounder at Detroit's Motor City Arena Thursday night. This 10 p.m. (EST) bout will be telecast to some sections of the country by ABC.

Ten Schools Will Vie In Loop; Kent State At Potomac Friday

The scholastic baseball season in the tri-state area is scheduled to get under way Tuesday at Romney where Coach Richard "Dick" McElwhee's Romney High Pioneers cross bats with Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Yellow Jackets in the Potomac Valley Conference lid-lifter at 2 p. m.

McElwhee, former West Virginia University athlete, launches his ninth season as baseball mentor at Romney, having revived the sport in 1945, one year after he took over the coaching reins there.

To Play 12 Games

Tomorrow's contest will be the first of 12 for the Pioneers in the 10-team conference.

Joe Ely, one of the six lettermen on the Romney squad, is slated to work on the firing line in the inaugural tilt with Ray "Lefty" Hartman held in reserve. Roger Parker will do the receiving. Ed Hartman, who posted a 5-1 record in the P.V.C. last season, will start at third base for Romney.

Randall Raines or Bobby Wilson will start on the mound for Moorefield in the opener with Donnie Thomas back of the plate. Raines and Wilson were regulars last season. So were Lyle Weatherholtz, outfielder, and Allen Bean, second sacker. Raines is a shortstop-pitcher while Wilson pitches and plays third base. Gordon Raines, a 5-1 winner in the P.V.C. last season, is overage and is ineligible to play.

Jackets List 10 Tilt

Moorefield will play 10 P.V.C. contests this season.

The Jackets defeated Romney twice during the conference campaign last season, 5-1 and 8-7, but lost out to Romney in the regional tourney, 6-5.

Other schools in the 10-team conference are Franklin, the 1952 champion, with a 7-1 record; West Virginia School for the Deaf, Wardensville, Petersburg, Keyser, Fort Ashby, Circleville and Capon Bridge.

Southern High of Oakland opens its baseball season Wednesday, meeting Terra Alta at Oakland. A return game is set for Friday at the Preston county team's field.

State Will Play Kent

Defeated twice last week by Mount Union, Ohio, College, Potomac State will play host to Kent State of Ohio, Friday and Saturday in Keyser.

In a game staged Saturday, Frostburg State Teachers College dropped a 14-6 decision to Mount Union, Ohio, College at Frostburg. It was the fourth straight victory for the touring Ohioans who opened with a 15-4 win over Bridge-water, Va., College. Saturday's game was the opener for the Bobcats.

As You WERE

Twenty-nine years ago this young lady was very much in the basketball spotlight.

On January 30, 1924, she scored 95 points on 46 field goals and three fouls as Beall High School rolled to an 111-5 victory over Ursuline Academy.

This was a girls' scoring record until February 25 of the same year when Marie Boyd of Central amassed the amazing total of 156 points as the "Coney sextet" swamped Ursuline, 162 to 3.

The same month the bobbed-hair young lady pictured here banded in 27 points (11 field goals and 5-10 fouls) as Beall cracked the three-year winning streak of Central after the Orange and Black had won 65 consecutive games.

A tie for first place at the end of the regular season necessitated a playoff for the W.M.I. League championship which Beall won by beating Central at the N. & G. Taylor gym here by the score of 36-18. In that important game this star collected 18 points.

Other members of that Beall team were Elizabeth Davis, Helene Shuck, Gladys Crowe, Alice Wright, Leola Cooper and Annice Duncan.

This girl's brother, Jonathan, was an outstanding tenor soloist. Do you know her name?

Any girl of Central and Millbrook of All-Crowe of Beall, and the daughter of W.M.I. All-Star team in 1924 was the name of her husband in Washington, D. C. She's married but the name of her husband is un-known. Prof. J. Stanley Hunter coached the Beall High girls when the name of her husband is un-known.

Boston Upsets Detroit Wings

Bruins Go To Finals In Stanley Cup Play

BOSTON, April 5 (INS)—The Boston Bruins pulled the upset of the hockey season when they defeated the Detroit Red Wings 4 to 2 tonight before 13,909 at Boston Garden and eliminated the Red Wings in their semi-final series for the Stanley Cup.

Boston scored once in the first and second periods and twice in the third period to beat Detroit, who won the Stanley Cup last season.

Detroit scored once in the second and third periods.

The Bruins will meet the winner of the Montreal-Chicago series in the finals.

The Montreal Canadiens drew all-even at 3-all with the Chicago Blackhawks by winning Saturday night, 3-0. The deciding game will be played Tuesday at Montreal.

Fort Hill Trackmen Beat Beall, 102-24

Fort Hill High School's track and field team, undefeated last year in seven meets, got off to a flying start Saturday by crushing Beall High at Frostburg, 102-24.

Coach William P. "Bill" Hahn's thinclads swept nine first places and notched their 14th straight triumph over three seasons.

Bill Allen won the 100 yards dash in 11.5 seconds and the 220 in 26 seconds; Bill Stepp also copped two firsts, the 440 in 57.2 seconds and the shot put with a heave of 45 feet, 3 inches.

Fort Hill hosts Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs at the local stadium Saturday.

Tigers Triumph, 13-8

TAMPA Fla., April 5 (AP)—Right-hander Ned Garver went all the way today to pitch the Detroit Tigers to a 13 to 8 exhibition victory over the Cincinnati Reds' "B" team.

Garver gave up 12 hits to the National League club's second stringers. But he was backed by an 18-hit attack, including three home runs.

Managers Sought For Frostburg Hot Stove Loop

Third Appeal Made, Meeting Is Tonight

FROSTBURG, April 5 — Frostburg may be forced to abandon plans for the operation of a Hot Stove Baseball League this year if an appeal for managers and assistant managers goes unanswered at a meeting to be held Monday at 8 p. m. at Frostburg City Hall.

Two meetings already have been held but little interest was shown. Tomorrow's meeting has been called by Guy Mallow, who was recently nominated for president.

If the league is to be continued officers will be elected at the Monday session. Dan Wilson headed the circuit last season.

The league was composed of four teams last season, namely, Braves, Cardinals, Tigers and Cubs and the Braves won the championship. One hundred and fifty boys played with the teams in 1952.

Mallow announces that the league's equipment is valued at $800 and there are enough uniforms available to outfit four teams and approximately 50 players.

"We can't operate, however, if we are unable to acquire responsible persons to manage the teams," he added.

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 5 — (INS)—Another week or so and we may all take a gander at the new Ty Cobbs and Babe Ruths.

Don't scoff, please. There may be another Ruth or Cobb among the new rookies. Who knows? After all, both Ruth and Cobb once were rookies.

We must admit that by all accounts to date no rookie has shown signs of being another phenom. But give them time. Even an onion must take time to reach its full flavor.

Competent baseball men who have been looking over the new crop this spring assure us that there are several sure-fire stars among the newcomers.

They go even further and assert that some of them surely will have an important bearing on the impending pennant races. Could be. It has happened often before and undoubtedly will happen again.

One of the new ones they tell us can't miss is Jim Green-grass, a slugger par excellence for Rajah Hornsby's Reds. Invariably an old timer will cut a youngster taking his out and remark, "Yeh, he's pretty good, but he can be pitched to."

By that they mean he has a flaw in his hitting which will make him a sucker for the right pitcher. It may be that such a nitter may be weak against a low outside curve or maybe a tight inside pitch.

But we are assured that Green-grass has no apparent weakness. Even if he had, it wouldn't mean much to us. Rajah Hornsby was no ball of fire when he started and Babe Ruth was supposed to be a soft touch against a lefthander's screwball.

We recall how Hub Hruett once fanned Ruth 13 times in a row. He used to hold up the ball to show it to Ruth and yell "here it comes, Babe."

One day Babe got hold of one of those screwballs, drove it nine country miles and thereafter Hub lost control of the Babe. We have seen the Babe miss a certain pitch by a foot. The pitcher would come right back with the same pitch and Babe would drive it out of the lot.

So we are going to withhold judgment on all rookies, pitchers and hitters alike, until they have made it at least one swing around the circuit so that the other teams may have a chance to spot their weakness, if any.

Daryl Spencer of the Giants also is another tabbed "can't miss" as are Bob Buhl, a right hand pitcher of the Braves, and Ray Jablonski and Rip Repulski of the Cardinals. Likewise John Podres, a snappy left hander of the Dodgers.

These and others like them, among a crop of rookies such as we have not seen in years, may make all the difference to their ball clubs.

After all, it often happens that one player sometimes may make a difference to a ball club, especially if he is filling one weak spot. Some of these rookies may fill the spots. We shall see.

Grove Was Worth It May Makes Third Team
Vets Ask For Support Elmer Carter Writes
By C. V. BURNS

CONNIE MACK and Tom Yawkey paid fancy prices to obtain Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove for the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox but they were well rewarded by the Lonaconing south-paw.

This is the opinion expressed by Fred Lieb, veteran New York baseball writer, in a booklet entitled "Can You Buy a Baseball Star?" published by the Packard Motor Car Company.

Mr. Lieb, author of "The Story of the World Series," "The St. Louis Cardinals" and other books writes:

"Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics paid $100,000 to Baltimore for Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove, a minor league pitcher of five years' experience. As a matter of fact, Jack Dunn had kept tall Moses in Baltimore several seasons after he was ripe for big league picking.

"After two years to get acclimated, Grove won 20 or more games for seven consecutive seasons, as the Athletics won three pennants in a row. Mack then sold Moses to the wealthy Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox for $100,000 in 1934 and Lefty pitched eight effective years for the Red Sox before retiring.

"Neither the A's nor the Red Sox ever complained about the price they paid for Lefty Grove."

Lieb points out the minors are full of players who advanced to the majors with some scout or manager assuring, "this fellow can't miss, and promptly fell on their faces.

GEORGE HOIT, former Moorefield basketball and baseball star, played first base for New Orleans against the Pirates in yesterday's exhibition game, and obtained a hit in his first time at bat against Pollet. The Bucs defeated the Pelicans, 5-1.

MANAGER BILL SEE reports that the McCoolle Vets will field a team in the Bi-State Baseball League this year but the post will be unable to give the club financial support.

Cooperation of Keyser and McCoolle fans will be necessary to keep the club going.

See says that besides himself, only two other players had indicated definitely they would be back in action this year. They are Earl Hess and Dick Troutack.

Letters were sent to out-of-town players who performed with the Vets last year, explaining the financial situation and that only travel expenses could be guaranteed but none have yet replied.

Those who received the letters were Carl Wilfong, Jack Hines, Bill Martz and Mat Kuhn.

BRUCE MAY, Hyndman High School's high point scorer during the past season, was named on the third Little All-Pennsylvania scholastic team in the fourth annual Associated Press poll.

Seventy-five coaches, sports-writers and sportsfans voted.

The honor goes to Franklin High School's girls of Pendleton county, W. Va., coached by John M. Dice.

Franklin Pantherettes posted an 8-0 record against West Virginia and Virginia sextets.

DALLAS, Tex., April 5 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, paced by Jim Rivera's four hits, defeated the Texas League Dallas Eagles 4 to 1 today before 3,979 fans.

Mike Fornieles, the Sox' 21 year old Cuban right-hander, pitched five innings for the victors and gave up only one hit. Gene Bearden finished and allowed three safeties.

Jerry Barber Cops Azalea Open Tourney

Posts 4-Under-Par 68, Wins $2,000 With 276

By KEN ALTYA

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 5 (AP)—Little Jerry Barber, one of professional golf's "mighty mites," crashed through to his first major tournament victory today, coming in with a four under par 68 to win the $10,000 Azalea Open by one stroke with a 276 total.

Barber's rounds of 71-65-72-68 left him 12 under par for four rounds and earned him top money of $2,000.

Three Tied For Second

Tied for second at 277 were Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N. C.; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y.

Bespectacled Barber, a Woodstock, Ill., native who registers from La Canada, Calif., is a 5-5, 140-pound veteran of many hard knocks along the golfing circuit. The father of four children, he is a golf glove salesman when not occupied on the links.

Tommy Bolt, of Maplewood, N. J., who was in first place or tied for the lead through the first three rounds, was caught at the nine-hole mark today and dropped down to an eighth-place tie after a one-over par 73.

Barber, who will be 37 years old April 25, entered the tournament the 18th money winner of the year with $2,635 in winnings.

Never Won Major Event

Although never a winner of a major event before, he often has been up there for a share of the money. Over the 1951 and 52 seasons he totaled more than $18,000 and was in the top 20 each season.

Barber's victory also clinched for him the last vacant position in the Augusta Masters Tournament opening Thursday. His finish today gave him a year's average of 71.25 against 71.29 for Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa.

Ford had a pair of 34s today, but a costly six on the third cost him a chance to tie. The three runners-up each won $1,066.66.

Sharing fifth place were Bo Winger, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., and Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, each shooting 279 for $606.66.

Bolt dropped to an eighth place tie at 280 with Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., for $415 each.

All players and interested citizens are invited to attend.

Dodgers Beat Braves

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 5 (AP)—Young Dick Williams, playing first base with a heavily strapped leg injury, hit a two-run double in the sixth inning to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 3-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves today.

Williams, unable to play the outfield because he hasn't recovered from a shoulder separation suffered last August, drove the ball into the overflow crowd of 11,989 following a safe butt by Jackie Robinson and error by John Logan on Carl Furillo.

Fondy Hits Two Homers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 5 (AP)—Dee Fondy hit two of six home runs here today to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 9-8 slugfest victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Manager Marty Marion lost the services of Catcher Clint Courtney, possibly for the season's opener against Detroit in St. Louis April 14, when the middle finger of his throwing hand was fractured by a foul ball. He will be sidelined 10 days or two weeks.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 5 (AP)—Rookie Ray Jablonski's two-run home run in the sixth inning today gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 victory over their Houston farmhands.

The game was called at the end of the seventh inning and a second game was cancelled because of rain.

Jablonski's fourth spring home run followed a walk to Stan Musial and gave the Birds their fifth straight victory over Class AA competition.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 5 —(INS)—“John Brown’s Body,” a joy to behold on the stage, goes into motion pictures, brought there, of course, by Paul Gregory and Charles Laughton, producers of this highly successful road show.

And you just couldn’t do “John Brown’s Body” without Tyrone Power. So it’s all settled for Ty to star in the movie version of his stage hit. Unless I am greatly mistaken, this is Paul Gregory’s first motion picture, although “Don Juan In Hell” and other presentations behind the footlights have garnered him fame and money.

I’d call Jerry Lewis “dumb like a fox.” He worked very hard directing all those home movies he made, and apparently there was a method in his efforts.

Hal Wallis has signed Jerry to direct the Martin and Lewis comedy which will be filmed in Paris. The story, now being written by Cy Howard, is as yet without a title.

I’d like to say, this deal makes Jerry one of the youngest directors in Hollywood—he’s only twenty-seven.

I met Gig Young a few days ago and had a nice talk with him. He took the death of his wife, Sophie Rosenberg, very hard, and has done very little since Sophie’s death. She was his dramatic teacher and always rehearsed him in his roles.

But now Gig has the third starring role with Joan Crawford and Michael Wilding in “Why Should I Cry?” for the Charles Schnee unit at MGM.

Joan is very excited about this picture and it should go before the camera before too long.

When Zsa Zsa Gabor arrived in Rome she found George Sanders had lost 40 pounds. This is what working in “Duo” did for him. Zsa Zsa put her foot down and said George had to have a vacation, so she’s taking him to the south of France for two weeks. While there they’ll attend the Cannes film festival together. Did I say that Zsa Zsa timed her arrival in Rome perfectly?

It isn’t that Rossellini is temperamental, but he works slowly and never knows what he wants.

French Unveil Unusual Plane

PARIS, April 5 —French plane manufacturers have unveiled a “convertible” jet-propelled aircraft-helicopter capable of both vertical motion and speedy horizontal flight.

Officials of the nationalized plant, which has dubbed the craft the “Farfadet,” said trial flights will begin in a few days from Villacoublay Field south of Paris.

The craft, large enough to carry three passengers as well as pilot and co-pilot, was designed on an experimental basis as a prototype for larger planes capable of carrying between 20 and 30 passengers speedily from the center of one city to the center of another.

The craft has a large revolving blade common to helicopters and the fixed wings on either side of the fuselage. It is powered by two independently operated systems, one for the helicopter blade and the other for forward motion. Officials said the craft can fly almost 300 miles at a cruising speed of about 180 miles an hour.

Thanks to its helicopter blade, the Farfadet can operate without the lengthy runways usually required for jet planes, they said.

Jaycees To Begin Tree Planting Along Highways

A continuing highway beautification program is being started this year by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Dr. Harry F. Butler, who is serving as chairman of this Jaycee committee, announced yesterday that as a beginning some 500 seedlings will be planted along Route 40 at Clarysville sometime in April.

These seedlings will be planted in a triangular area bounded by the present Route 40, former Route 46 and the Vale Summit Road. As these trees, all Scotch pines, grow they are expected to beautify this stretch of National Highway.

The plan is to plant seedlings each year at a different location along one of the highways leading into Cumberland. This program is being developed through the cooperation of District Forester William H. Johnson and G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission. The seedlings are coming from the State Nursery in Anne Arundel County. They probably will be planted some time in mid-April.

On The Line by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, April 5 —(INS)—The passing show:—The best wives make the poorest widows, says financial writer Donald I. Rogers in a slim little book just published by Holt and given the thumping title “Teach Your Wife To Be A Widow.”

It’s a book dealing with the bewildering difficulties experienced by women whose husbands conk out without first tidying up their financial affairs by making good will and attending to other financial and property matters. The more devoted a wife has been to her husband and children, Rogers declares, the more she flounders in her new responsibilities after the old man turns in his chips.

This is a book born of two American catastrophes, the Thanksgiving Eve wreck on the Long Island Railroad and one of the planes that tumbled into Elizabeth, N. J. After each disaster, in which Rogers lost friends, their wives brought him such a vast variety of problems that he resorted to go forward with a guide or manual for the benefit of other widows and widows-to-be.

The chapter “It’s not always safest in the bank,” brings out some things I never knew before. A widow who was not a partner to a joint checking account cannot withdraw the money from her late husband’s account, without endless tape, even though he has left her a number of signed blank checks.

Rogers tells of a millionaire who gave a doctor a check for $100,000 just before he died. The bank refused to honor it when the doctor presented the check for deposit. After an interminable delay the doctor received the $100,000 as a gift from the university to which the millionaire had left his fortune, but the university was under no compulsion to give him the money.

Some states, including New York, demand that banks seal a safe deposit box upon the death of its renter or co-renter. It’s a matter of inheritance taxes. Banks keep a wary eye on death notices, especially those in inheritance tax states. These are sealed as soon as the bank learns of the death of a renter, but sometimes the banks cannot move quite fast enough.

Just 35 minutes after the death of a famed New York politician his wife was found frantically rifling the safety deposit box. The bank manager called a cop and she was forced to return everything, including an envelope containing ten $1,000 bills. She had to go to court and produce a witness to swear that she had been told by the late and presumably unlamented statesman that the $10,000 belonged to mamma.

It’s an eye-opener. Whatever became of the GIs who took up painting under the GI bill? Well, I know what happened to one of them, David Irwin Williams. He’s having his first exhibit at the Serigraph Galleries (38 W. 57th) in New York, an excellent collection of paintings of Mexico. Really fine.

Now that we’re about to play footsie with Russia again, or so it would seem, my friend Marie McMillin wants to challenge the Soviet Union’s leading woman parachutist to a little duel, for charity. Marie is six times a grandmother but still looks in her 20’s and jumps like nobody’s business. Her next leap will be her 700th. She trained rough and tough paratroopers during the war, as a WAC sergeant, is finance officer of the Warr Street Post No. 1217 of the American Legion, recently burgled her umpteenth quart of blood and, as we were saying, is ready to take on that Russki babe. If you’re a betting person, and the match comes off, play the Russian doll to place.

Hearing Set For Area Man In N. Y. Robbery

Charles E. Beeman, 22, of Lonaconing, a suspected member of a local tavern holdup gang, was charged with possession of stolen property in Felony Court in New York Thursday.

He was arrested April 1 at 69th Street and Broadway, New York, on complaint of Carl Swift, a student, that he was one of four men who robbed him in his apartment at 312 West 70th Street.

Held in connection with the same robbery are Richard J. Fonseca, 24, of New Bedford, Harold Burgess, 24, of Springfield, and William Lynch, 23. They were arraigned in the same court on assault and robbery charges. Magistrate Nicholas Delagi set bail at $500 for Beeman and listed an April 8 hearing in Felony Court for him.

Bail for Lynch was set $15,000, while Burgess and Fonseca, each with two previous arrests, were detained without bail, for hearings on the same date. It was Beeman’s first offense.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

The Big Picture

I doubt that television will price itself out of existence but, unless conditions change drastically pretty soon, the shape of the beast is going to be unrecognizable. At the Hot Springs meeting of the National Association of Advertisers, the air was blue with the laments of the ad boys who feel strongly they have a bear by the tail.

The advertiser is in a position now where he can't afford television but, for competitive reasons, he is afraid to get out of it. And he doesn't quite know what to do about it because it is a situation that never existed before. There never was anything like the spiraling costs of television in radio. In radio, you laid out a budget—say $25.00 a week—and that was that. In television costs have become almost uncontrollable.

may solve the riddle—or may just intensify it. This is pay-as-you-see television, this particular brand of it being known as Telemeter. Telemeter is a gadget affixed to the set that takes coins of all denominations. The price of the entertainment, according to its proponents, will vary, depending on what you get. A singer will probably retail for a dime; Toscanini will probably cost you about a buck and a half. It is the devout hope of the Telemeter crowd that millions of people will pay for television (a) to get better entertainment; (b) to get rid of the commercials.

That, as I see it, is what the boys in the trade call the big picture—and not a very pretty one. At the moment, though, I am indifferent to television's problems. Directly, after I finish this, I'm off to Europe for a month's vacation. It's just possible that television will have blown over by the time I get back.

Jiffy Jacket Dress

9356 12-20 30-42

by Marian Martin

Dress for sun! Ensemble for city! And SEW-EASY! The dress has slimming princess lines — no multiple sponsorship. Next year Jackie Gleason, for example, will be sponsored variously by Nescafe and Lilt. Literally dozens of shows will have more than one firm paying the bills.

Another and sorer trend will be ward cheaper shows. There is practically no such thing as a cheap show in television. The only thing that approximates it is a quiz show. You can get any number of experts to sit around a table and play imitations of "What's My Line." But the rest of us are going to get awfully tired of it.

Meanwhile out in Palm Springs an experiment is underway that

The Arctic tern sometimes travels more than 22,000 miles in a year. In spring it flies far north to nest in the Arctic. A few months later it turns south to feed in the Antarctic.

The historian Froude said Julius Caesar's body was burned in the Forum, and that the remains were deposited in the tomb of the Caesars in the Campus Martius.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors, and relatives who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and father, Howard LeRoy Clark, who especially thank Rev. C. W. Ann of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, of the tributes; all those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their automobiles; also the Black Hawk Tribe 131, Westernport.

In Memoriam

12-AT—In loving remembrance of my husband, father, and father-in-law, William T. Clark, who passed away six years ago April 6, 1947.

He whom we love, gone out of sight, But never out of mind: He is cherished in the hearts of those who left behind him. We do not forget him, nor do we intend. We think of him often, and will to the end.

Gone and forgotten by some he may be, But dear to our memory he ever will be.

Loving Wife ANNA, SON PAUL, and DAUGHTER-IN-LAW MARY ALICE

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank our friends, neighbors, and relatives who were so kind to us following the death of our beloved husband and father, Howard LeRoy Clark. We especially thank Rev. C. W. Ash of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, the pastors, all those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their automobiles; also the Black Hawk Tribe 131, Westernport. Mrs. Howard LeRoy Clark & Children

In Memoriam
IZAT-In loving remembrance of my husband, father, and father-in-law, William Izat, who passed away six years ago April 6, 1947.

He whom we love, gone out of sight, but never out of mind.
He is cherished in the hearts of those he left behind.
We do not forget him, nor do we intend. We think of him often, and will to the end.
Gone and forgotten by some he may be, but dear to our memory he ever will be.
Loving WIFE ANNA, RON PAUL, and DAUGHTER-IN-LAW MARY ALICE.

Wreck Gives Clue To Pair Auto Thieves

Two men, who miraculously escaped death in a highway crash along Route 219 in Garrett County yesterday about midnight, also made good their escape from State Police following a series of reported car thefts in West Virginia and Maryland.

Cpl. Samuel M. Conrad, stationed at Oakland, said he noticed the 1950 sedan racing through that community and took up the chase. The speed of the car which was being used by two men between 18 and 20 years of age was clocked at around 100 miles an hour during the chase, Conrad noted.

He later came across the demolished auto about 10 miles north of Oakland at Thayerville on Route 219 after the driver apparently failed to negotiate a curve. The car rolled end over end for about 100 feet through a wooded area.

The men, believed to be from the Pittsburgh area backtracked after escaping almost certain death and took another car about 1 1/2 miles from the scene. It belonged to Naomi Johnson, Star Route, Oakland and was described as a 1940 two door Chevrolet sedan taken about 9:30 a. m. yesterday.

Police said the two men apparently were headed toward Pittsburgh. The demolished car was identified as belonging to the Sterling Grocery Company of Princeton, W. Va.

The auto was taken from Princeton, police said, after another stolen car had been abandoned in that community.

Two Injured In Highway Mishap

One person was hospitalized and another person treated for injuries sustained in a two-car crash yesterday morning on McCullen Highway near Cresaptown.

Cpl. James T. Blizard, with the U. S. Air Force in Texas, was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, according to police. Louis A. Investigating was Trooper George Spieth.

Governor Asked To Make Special Appropriation

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 5.—A request to the Governor to appropriate $146,000 next year so the University of Maryland can co-operate with county hospitals in training nurses and interns was suggested today by Del. Thompson (D-Dorchester).

Thompson offered a resolution containing the request after receiving assurance from the university regents they are ready to help with a training program.

Program Suggested
The regents suggested a four-point program which they estimated would cost $146,580 the first year of operation.

The regents made a study at the request of the 1952 House of Delegates of means of helping county hospitals obtain interns and nurses. The conclusions were distributed this week-end to members of the General Assembly by Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president.

"A proposal for close affiliation between the University of Maryland Hospital and the county hospitals for the training of interns, residents and nurses, and for thus providing for better medical care of patients in the county hospitals, is both feasible and practicable," the regents decided.

"Successful staffing of the county hospitals would be a result of such a program."

The main points of the program:
1. Adoption of a fifth year in the University of Maryland School of Medicine during which the students would be assigned for internship to hospitals of the state for training by members of the school faculty.

2. Employment of more medical school faculty.

3. Establishment of post graduate courses and a refresher training program to encourage participation in such courses by graduate nurses from county hospitals by means of student subsidies.

4. Inauguration of an in-service training program in nursing service administration to be conducted on a regional plan by members of the university faculty.

Counties Are Listed
The university said county hospitals which appear suited for participation in the program are Anne Arundel, General, Allegany Memorial, Eastern Memorial, Frederick Memorial, Peninsula General, Prince George's General and Washington County.

"The aforementioned hospitals seem to be well equipped, adequately staffed and with a few additions could be made into satisfactory regional hospitals."

Other county hospitals would need extensive improvements to qualify in the opinion of the regents.

The board said a survey showed "the need of nursing service in the county hospitals is for nurses trained in specialized areas as ward, operating and delivery room management. A further benefit would seem to be through periodic seminars given in the county hospitals by competent nursing educators and administrators."

"The first need could be satisfied through the sending of qualified and interested nurses from the county hospitals to the University of Maryland Hospital for training in special areas."

"The second need could be supplied through the establishment of a post-graduate division in the school nursing of the University of Maryland."

The board said its estimated cost of $146,580 for the first year of operation would include six county hospitals, 30 internships, six residencies, and five trained graduate nurses. Another 70 of the fifth-year medical students would choose hospitals in which to intern.

The university noted it has been sending to the Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury residents on rotation in obstetrics, pediatrics and surgery.

Fruit Growers Warned In Area Frost Forecast

Mercury To Drop To Between 25-30

Forecasters predicted frost would hit sections of Western Maryland early today and feared possibility of harm to fruit buds.

The Weather Bureau forecast for areas west of Hagerstown is for temperatures of 25 to 30 degrees.

A warning issued by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Friendship Airport, Baltimore, states:

"There will be scattered frost in Western Maryland this morning, and in areas west of Hagerstown, there is a likelihood of damage to fruit buds in lower valleys."

"Lowest temperatures in that area will range between 25 and 30 degrees. Orchardists equipped for heating may find it necessary between 2 and 6 p. m. Skies will be clear and winds light and variable."

Meanwhile, Ralph R. McHenry, county agent, said he doesn't anticipate any extensive damage to fruit buds in Allegany County since they are not advanced far enough to be harmed by frost yet.

He pointed out that temperature would have to go down to about 10 or 12 degrees before any damage would occur. Mercury would have to go at least below 26 degrees for any damage here, he said, and then it would be mostly in the low valley sections.

The eight or ten large fruit growers in the county are located in the higher ground where air drainage would be better and thus protect against possible frost, he added.

At about 8 o'clock last night thermometers were relatively high and no indications of severe low readings. However, rapid drop in mercury was possible after midnight.

At Cumberland temperature at 8 p. m. was 49 degrees according to Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park. Humidity at 6 p. m. was a dry 30.5 per cent. Readings in a cross-section of the area, at 8 p. m., showed:

Hardman, W. Va., 49; Blazer, 46; Terra Alta, 46; Altamont, 46, all partly cloudy; Harpers Ferry, 54, and Orleans Road, 48, both places clear.

Elkins, 46; Rockwood, 48, and Deal, Pa., 46, all cloudy.

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday, Easter Day, at Emmanuel Episcopal Church by the rector, Rev. H. M. Richardson. The sermon digests are being prepared through the co-operation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above. Colossians 3:1.

By REV. H. M. RICHARDSON

Easter Day! What a galaxy of thoughts this implies . . . everything from hats to the profoundest help to one who has suffered the loss of a loved one. Easter Day, the day upon which Christ rose from the actual dead and thousands of inattentive Christians come back to life for a brief hour of worship and

Rev. Richardson usually.

Easter Day is no day to talk about flowers, and trees, and spring, and bunnies, and chickens, and eggs, for Easter is the Day of the Resurrection, it is the day which proclaims God's incursion into human life in a way no one believed possible!

And that is just precisely our trouble.

Many people who call themselves Christians do not believe that the Resurrection is possible. It just doesn't seem possible," they say, so let's look at possibilities.

Does it seem possible that there would have been life on this planet which at one time was a molten, flaming mass? It doesn't seem possible, yet there is life here.

Does it seem possible to see a radio beam and get back a picture of that which it bumped into? It certainly doesn't, but that is radar, and man-made at that.

Does it seem possible that the pews on which you sit are really not solid, but made up of electrons going so fast they just seem to be solid? It doesn't seem possible, yet our physicists and chemists tell us that is so.

"It doesn't seem possible" is no answer for anything in this day and age because God's miracles and our own man-made miracles are so stupendous that it seems that all things are possible.

Our argument about the "possibilities" is really based upon something else. We really do not think that man is worth eternal life. We see so many horrible things man does we don't see how he could be worth such a thing. Yet, this is looking at it from only man's side. The Resurrection proclaims God's side, that He thinks man is worth it.

The modern critic, however, says that this is only a value judgment. But so is every judgment we make; it must be the meaning of something to us, and how else can we interpret the Resurrection?

The great dancer Pavlova was once asked to give the critics an interpretation of one of her new dances, and she replied to their request with this question, "Do you think I would have danced it, if I could have said it?"

In the same vein we should look at the Resurrection. Do you think God would have allowed the crucifixion and the Resurrection, if He could have said it, so we could understand it? Certainly not. Until something is real in history, man kind has a tendency to doubt that it is real. So how else could God have proclaimed his estimation of the value of mankind, than by becoming man, suffering the lowest that man can suffer, and then rising from the dead for all to know?

Man is worth resurrecting, says God, so the values of our critics can be wrong.

The arguments against the Resurrection do not make much sense if we will be honest with ourselves and with history.

Yet what does it all mean? It means at least this as far as individuals are concerned: If the Resurrection is true, then Christianity is the one sure thing that we know of lasting worth to-day. If it is false, if the Resurrection is a lie, then let everyone be done with Christianity in any sense. Jesus the man and his ethics mean absolutely nothing if he based everything upon a lie. If it be true, however, then for the love of God and man, take Him unto yourself that you might have life and have it abundantly.

C&P Magazine Features City Area, Residents

Article And Cover Honor David Lynn

The current March-April issue of "The Transmitter," the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies official employee publication, devotes several articles to the Cumberland area and some of its citizens.

Among the men from Cumberland honored in the magazine is David Lynn, "The Architect of the Capitol" in Washington, whose great grandfather, was host to General George Washington during a visit here.

Also featured in the magazine is an article about Garrett County's ice storm in January by Richard E. Harman, manager of the local C&P Telephone Company, and an article mentioning the Queen City and its leading industries.

30th Anniversary

The story about David Lynn was written by Miss Nadine Golladay, editorial assistant for the magazine. She is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Golladay, 403 Washington Street. Lynn who has been working in the Architect's office since 1901 became the seventh Architect of the Capitol in 1930. This year he is celebrating his 30th year in that office.

Born in Wheeling, W. Va., he spent his youth in Cumberland, the city his great grandfather helped found. When George Washington made his last visit to the Queen City, the First President noted in his diary that "I was conducted to a house, the residence of Major David Lynn (an old Continental officer) where I was well lodged and civilly entertained."

Lynn has a photostat of the diary page with a typed translation from the script alongside. Despite the First President, the Architect thinks his great grandfather was only a captain in the Revolution.

Lynn's job in Washington is taking charge of the nation's most sacred shrines. It includes everything from escorting visiting heads of government from the Senate to the House of Representatives, to controlling the replacement of 16,927 electric light bulbs during the year. He escorted the Queen of England when she visited the U. S. as Princess Elizabeth.

$8,000,000 Budget

His work also involves dealing with artists and submitting drawings to appropriate Congressional committees for approval and then awarding contracts for the completion of the fresco around the base of the Capitol dome; authorizing the installation of an exhaust fan, ductwork and grease filter for an exhaust from the House of Representatives' coffee shop; purchasing 100 book trucks for the Library of Congress, and a hundred and one other responsibilities.

A clue to the scope of his jurisdiction may be gotten from the 1953 budget for the Architect of the Capitol which is over $8,000,000 and doesn't include any new buildings.

By law, the architect is entrusted with the structural and mechanical care, including operation of mechanical equipment, of the Capitol building, the Senate and House Office buildings and many other important structures. He has charge of providing domestic care for them, too.

Lynn is also featured on the cover of the C&P Company employee magazine.

Ice In Garrett

Harman's story, "Maryland's Little Switzerland," deals with the destructive snow, ice and sleet storm which caused thousands of dollars of damage in Garrett County in January.

It relates the drama of men against the elements as weight of the ice snapped communication lines, poles and trees. The article also features pictures of local workers who helped repair the extensive damage.

Pictures show B. V. Shirk, repairman for the C&P; B. R. Kerns, line foreman; J. E. Cook, repairman, and M. I. Lindner, lineman, all of Cumberland.

Another article, "The Chesapeake and Potomac Country," features Cumberland, the Queen City of the Alleghenies, noted for its acetate industry and tire manufacturing plants.

Wreck Gives Clue To Pair Auto Thieves

Two men, who miraculously escaped death in a highway crash along Route 219 in Garrett County yesterday about midnight, also made good their escape from State Police following a series of reported car thefts in West Virginia and Maryland.

Cpl. Samuel M. Conrad, stationed at Oakland, said he noticed the 1950 sedan racing through that community and took up the chase.

The speed of the car which was being used by two men between 18 and 20 years of age was clocked at around 100 miles an hour during the chase, Conrad noted.

He later came across the demolished auto about 10 miles north of Oakland at Thayerville on Route 219 after the driver apparently failed to negotiate a curve. The car rolled end over end for about 100 feet through a wooded area.

The men, believed to be from the Pittsburgh area backtracked after escaping almost certain death and took another car about 1 1/2 miles from the scene. It belonged to Naomi Johnson, Star Route, Oakland and was described as a 1940 two door Chevrolet sedan taken about 9:30 a. m. yesterday.

Police said the two men apparently were headed toward Pittsburgh. The demolished car was identified as belonging to the Sterling Grocery Company of Princeton, W. Va.

The auto was taken from Princeton, police said, after another stolen car had been abandoned in that community.

Two Injured In Highway Mishap

One person was hospitalized and another person treated for injuries sustained in a two-car crash yesterday morning on McMullen Highway near Cresaptown.

After DeCost hit the Fatkin car his car overturned. Police last night said DeCost who was uninjured is being held in Allegany County Jail on a charge of a motor vehicle violation. Investigating was Trooper George Spioch.

Service Set For Airmen Killed In N. Y. Accident

A funeral service for Sgt. Chester Boyd Dixon, 21, of Westernport, who was fatally injured in a two-car head-on collision north of New York City Friday night will be held tomorrow at Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Rev. Rex Coffman, pastor will officiate and interment will be in Philo's Cemetery, Westernport. Two other servicemen, Sgt. Henry Casbara, 22, of Rome, N. Y., stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C. and Sgt. Murray Lightblau, 40, Forest Hills, New York City, stationed at Camp Drum, Watertown, N. Y., were also killed in the crash.

Three survivors were taken to a hospital in Cold Spring, N. Y., in a serious state of shock. They reside in Brooklyn, Hoboken and Selkirk.

Airman Dixon, enroute home to look over an auto he was buying, was a son of Mrs. Elva Dixon, 268 Main Street Extended, and the late Edward R. Dixon. Stationed at Saratoga Springs (N. Y.) Air Force Base, he returned from Korea in March 1952, after 18 months of overseas service. His body will arrive at Westernport this afternoon and be taken to the home of his mother.

Relatives said Dixon had asked a brother to select a car, after which he would inspect it before making the purchase. The crash occurred Friday night on Taconic State Highway near Putnam Valley, and he died Saturday at 2 a. m.

Police said Dixon was riding with Lt. Jerry Yam, 24, Brooklyn, whose convertible apparently failed to take a proper lane at a fork and collided with the car driven by Marine Sgt. Casbara. Both vehicles were smashed into a crumpled heap.

Sgt. Dixon attended Bruce High School before enlisting in June, 1949, to serve in Texas and Georgia. He held membership in Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Besides his mother, he leaves two brothers, Floyd Dixon, Westernport, and Billie R. Dixon, with the Air Force at Bolling Field, Washington.

Students Attend N. Y. Conference

Three student representatives and a faculty member from Frostburg State Teachers College, recently returned from the 28th Annual Eastern States' Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, which was held in New York City.

Thomas Wagner, Robert Hutcheson, and Hayes Chambers were the student representatives, while Miss Arlene G. Petry attended as faculty representative.

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday, Easter Day, at Emmanuel Episcopal Church by the rector, Rev. H. M. Richardson. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above. Colossians 3:1.

By REV. H. M. RICHARDSON

Easter Day! What a galaxy of thoughts this implies . . . everything from hats to the profoundest help to one who has suffered the loss of a loved one. Easter Day, the day upon which Christ rose from the actual dead and thousands of inattentive Christians come back to life for a brief hour of worship annually.

Easter Day is no day to talk about flowers, and trees, and spring, and bunnies, and chickens, and eggs, for Easter is the Day of the Resurrection, it is the day which proclaims God's incursion into human life in a way no one believed possible!

And that is just precisely our trouble. Many people who call themselves Christians do not believe that the Resurrection is possible. It just doesn't seem possible," they say, so let's look at possibilities.

Does it seem possible that there would have been life on this planet which at one time was a molten, flaming mass? It doesn't seem possible, yet there is life here.

Does it seem possible to send a radio beam and get back a picture of that which it bumped into? It certainly doesn't, but that is radar, and man-made at that.

Does it seem possible that the pews on which you sit are really not solid, but made up of electrons going so fast they just seem to be solid? It doesn't seem possible, yet our physicists and chemists tell us that is so.

"It doesn't seem possible" is no answer for anything in this day and age because God's miracles are so stupendous that it seems that all things are possible.

Our argument about the "possibilities" is really based upon something else. We really do not think that man is worth eternal life. We see so many horrible things man does we don't see how he could be worth such a thing. Yet, this is looking at it from only man's side. The Resurrection proclaims God's side, that He thinks man is worth it.

The modern critic, however, says that this is only a value judgment. But so is every judgment we make; it must be the meaning of something to us, and how else can we interpret the Resurrection?

The great dancer Pavlova was once asked to give the critics an interpretation of one of her new dances, and she replied to their request with this question, "Do you think I would have danced it, if I could have said it?"

In the same vein we should look at the Resurrection. Do you think God would have allowed the crucifixion and the Resurrection, if He could have said it, so we could understand it? Certainly not. Until something is real in history, mankind has a tendency to doubt that it is real. So how else could God have proclaimed his estimation of the value of mankind, than by becoming man, suffering the lowest that man can suffer, and then rising from the dead for all to know?

Man is worth resurrecting, says God, so the values of our critics can be wrong.

The arguments against the Resurrection do not make much sense if we will be honest with ourselves and with history.

Yet what does it all mean?

It means at least this as far as individuals are concerned: If the Resurrection is true, then Christianity is the one sure thing that we know of lasting world to day. If it is false, if the Resurrection is a lie, then let everyone be done with Christianity in any sense. Jesus the man and his ethics mean absolutely nothing if he based everything upon a lie. If it be true, however, then for the love of God and man, take Him unto yourself that you might have life and have it abundantly.

C&P Magazine Features City Area, Residents

Article And Cover Honor David Lynn

The current March-April issue of "The Transmitter," the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies official employee publication, devotes several articles to the Cumberland area and some of its citizens.

Among the men from Cumberland honored in the magazine is David Lynn, "The Architect of the Capitol" in Washington, whose great grandfather, was host to General George Washington during a visit here.

Also featured in the magazine is an article about Garrett County's ice storm in January by Richard E. Harman, manager of the local C&P Telephone Company, and an article mentioning the Queen City and its leading industries.

30th Anniversary

The story about David Lynn was written by Miss Nadine Golladay, editorial assistant for the magazine. She is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Golladay, 403 Washington Street. Lynn who has been working in the Architect's office since 1901 became the seventh Architect of the Capitol in 1930. This year he is celebrating his 30th year in that office.

Born in Wheeling, W. Va., he spent his youth in Cumberland, the city his great grandfather helped found. When George Washington made his last visit to the Queen City, the First President noted in his diary that "I was conducted to a house, the residence of Major David Lynn (an old Continental officer) where I was well lodged and civilly entertained."

Lynn has a photostat of the diary page with a typed translation from the script alongside. Despite the First President, the Architect thinks his great grandfather was only a captain in the Revolution.

Lynn's job in Washington is taking charge of the nation's most sacred shrines. It includes everything from escorting visiting heads of government from the Senate to the House of Representatives, to controlling the replacement of 16,927 electric light bulbs during the year. He escorted the Queen of England when she visited the U. S. as Princess Elizabeth.

$8,000,000 Budget

His work also involves dealing with artists and submitting drawings to appropriate Congressional committees for approval and then awarding contracts for the completion of the fresco around the base of the Capitol dome; authorizing the installation of an exhaust fan, ductwork and grease filter for an exhaust from the House of Representatives' coffee shop; purchasing 100 book trucks for the Library of Congress, and a hundred and one other responsibilities.

A clue to the scope of his jurisdiction may be gotten from the 1953 budget for the Architect of the Capitol which is over $8,000,000 and doesn't include any new buildings.

By law, the architect is entrusted with the structural and mechanical care, including operation of mechanical equipment, of the Capitol building, the Senate and House Office buildings and many other important structures. He has charge of providing domestic care for them, too.

Lynn is also featured on the cover of the C&P Company employee magazine.

Ice In Garrett

Harman's story, "Maryland's Little Switzerland," deals with the destructive snow, ice and sleet storm which caused thousands of dollars of damage in Garrett County in January.

It relates the drama of men against the elements as weight of the ice snapped communication lines, poles and trees. The article also features pictures of local workers who helped repair the extensive damage.

Pictures show B. V. Shirk, repairman for the C&P; B. R. Kerns, line foreman; J. E. Cook, repairman, and M. I. Lindner, lineman, all of Cumberland.

Another article, "The Chesapeake and Potomac Country," features Cumberland, the Queen City of the Alleghenies, noted for its acetate industry and tire manufacturing plants.
